With an unalterable determination Bill White sweeps away calories, vitamins and other rules of dietetics, and starts for the long, lean Cassius type of mankind. Bill is laying aside the physical weight which prevents one from jockeying qualifications, and if he succeeds during the next few weeks as well as the past few weeks, he will get into my class. The physical barometer has been falling rapidly, and I am now able to crawl under his vest.

The trouble with those hot race tips is that they cool off too quickly.

Lunch hour. Naturally that's the time when downtown Santa Ana wants to be fed, and wants to be fed all at the same time, and it just can't be done. And that is also the time when it's a test of patience and good manners. Remember this, and it's not from Uncle Ezra: That courtesy is an attribute of character, and appreciated by the waitress behind the counter.

Every time it rains in Southern California the ranchers start to sing, "Happy Days Are Here Again." Now I think they got something there.

Al Honer goes all the way to Washington, D. C., to bring home to me a good-will message from S. Ray Emerson, mayor of Creston, Ia., contractor, and civic energy. If Ray stopped with the good wishes I shall appreciate his silence. Otherwise I'll start to talk.

Brown university scientists claim that by giving water fleas a limited diet they live longer, and by overfeeding their existence is reduced to 29 days, and if you take my word for it that's 29 days too long. What's worrying some of us is whether we eat at all.

Here's a late "touch" system as related by the Arcade merchants. Man calls and tells the lady or gentleman in charge that he is in the dog house and wants to take a dress or flowers or candy to the wife as a peace offering. He picks out a dress and then says he forgot his pocketbook, says he'll be back in fifteen or twenty minutes and then starts for the door. Then he turns around and asks the merchant for a loan of two or three dollars, and in the Arcade it didn't work. Money on the palm when merchandise is delivered in such cases is the application of prudence. When the police called somewhat later for an interview the "dog house" customer had disappeared.

Some people work for a living, some live because the other fellow is working.

The way to keep a rabbit is to first get rid of the neighbor's dog. Claude Lindsay found that out as early as 1899, when he had Theo. Lacey for a nearby associate. Claude bought from the Wand's a Belgian hare, and hair was all that was left of it when Nero (without the fiddle) got through with it. Claude built a nice house for the rabbit, enclosed it with wire and retired for the night. Nero stayed awake. Next morning all that was left of Lindsay's rabbit was a lot of fur. The rest of the rabbit eloped with Lacey's dog.

Some one told me that every time you hold out your hand to Bob Turner he begins to shake.

Jurors Jitter Over Salary Law

SUPERVISORS PUT ON SPOT BY LETTER

'What Does It Mean?' Asks Board

By FRANK ORR
Muttering in its collective beard about a "most embarrassing situation," the county grand jury at once won a prize for understatement and started the merry-go-round going around again today.

It all went back to the West-Mitchell salary ordinance, a luscious bit of evidence to back up the too-many-cooks-spoil-the-soup theory. The ordinance, containing many facts and figures, never has been made quite clear.

The grand jury, in a jittery letter to the board of supervisors, brought that little item painfully home.

"One of your members," said Foreman Joe Beck's letter, "has preferred charges against the county auditor . . . of having illegally paid out funds in connection with the new salary ordinance. . . . The auditor acted upon the written advice of the district attorney . . . every member of the board of supervisors signed some of the salary warrants in question, and, should any action be taken against the county auditor, the same action would be required to be taken against each and every member of the board of supervisors."

What the supervisors, who acknowledged receipt of the worried jury's letter today, is what to do about it. The grand jury asked their "earnest consideration of this problem to the end that the action of all those involved may be legally approved."

"Whatever that means," frowned the supervisors, who instructed John Mitchell and Harry Riley to bend their pens toward an appropriate reply, asking just what the grand jury would suggest.

Nothing short of a lawsuit could possibly straighten out the tangle, authorities agree. No action by the supervisors could "legally approve" payment of the revised salaries on Nov. 1 if there was anything wrong with that payment in the first place. And if the salaries were paid legally (the whole scrap was over the effective date of the ordinance) it would be hunky-dory anyway.

Maybe the grand jury wants the board to file a test suit, but it didn't say so.

But the letter started things going.

"It looks to me," said Steele Finley, pricking up his ears, "like an admission that illegal payment has been made, and they want us to validate it."

"Why should the grand jury be 'embarrassed'?" cracked N. E. West, himself facing removal from office on a grand jury accusation.

AUTOMOBILE SLUMP CAUSES RELIEF BOOM

Appropriation Talk Expected Tomorrow

WASHINGTON, (CP)—President Roosevelt, it was learned today, will ask congress within a day or two to appropriate between $200,000,000 and $300,000,000 for relief during the next five months.

Informed sources said the President would send a letter to Speaker Bankhead, probably tomorrow, asking additional funds primarily because of expected relief demands during February, March and April.

The Works Progress administration, these sources said, has told the President it needed a deficiency appropriation largely because of unemployment in certain automobile cities.

Earlier, Senate Majority Leader Barkley said after a White House conference today that President Roosevelt would send to congress "probably today or tomorrow" a message on relief.

Barkley, who conferred with Mr. Roosevelt and other congressional leaders and administration officials, said the message might cover not only the question of a deficiency appropriation for the rest of this fiscal year, but also needs for the next fiscal year, beginning July 1.

Acting as spokesman for the President's relief conferees, Barkley said he did not know how much additional relief money would be required. He added, however, that a deficiency appropriation was "very likely."

ADD TO WPA FUND
The money, if the President decides to ask congress for it, will be used to supplement the $497,000,000 already available to the Works Progress administration up to June 30.

Aubrey Williams, assistant WPA director, was understood to have proposed the $250,000,000 figure in discussions with congressional leaders. He conferred yesterday with Mr. Roosevelt, Secretary Morgenthau, and Acting Budget Director Bell.

Midwest mayors who visited the White House yesterday urged the President to request $400,000,000. They told him that about a million persons should be added to the nearly 2,000,000 now on payrolls.

A group of house liberals told Mr. Roosevelt Monday that they

WOMAN INVITED TO YMCA TALK

Women will be allowed to enter precincts heretofore reserved to the male of the species—at least for two evenings, Secretary Ralph Smedley of the Y. M. C. A. said today.

Occasion will be tomorrow night's lecture by Dr. Willis P. Baker on "Trouble With the Heart," and next Thursday's lecture, "Cancer—Its Cause and Cure," by Drs. D. A. Harwood and Dr. John Wehrly.

The lectures will be given at 7:30 p. m. in the east lobby of the Y. M. C. A. building. They are presented in cooperation with the Orange County Medical society, and are open to the public. Previous lectures have been for men only.

An investigation of robberies in Fullerton, Anaheim, Newport Beach and on Manchester boulevard were continued today, officers learned the "crime wave" has been felt all over the state.

Long Beach police have reported a recent run of holdups, and similar robberies have been committed in several other places.

A three-man robbery in San Jose last night prompted conjecture among local authorities as to whether it may have been committed by the same trio which robbed eight participants in an Anaheim card party of $1620 worth of jewels and money.

Attack-Slaying Brings Death Sentence

Wendell Forrest Bowers, 20, must die in the electric chair for slaying Mrs. Wilma V. Carpenter last Dec. 13, three judges decided today after he entered a plea of guilty to the murder charge. Mrs. Carpenter's body is shown on the floor of her apartment, with chalk lines drawn around it by police.

JESKO HELD IN BATTERY

Tom Jesko was held to answer to the superior court shortly before noon today on charges that he assaulted Mrs. Patricia Smith with force on Katella road near Anaheim last Friday morning.

Justice of the Peace Kenneth E. Morrison, who bound Jesko over to the higher court at the conclusion of a preliminary hearing today, also ordered that he be held on a felony hit-and-run count not charged in the original complaint.

Jesko was represented at the hearing by Attorney Roland Thompson, who asked that the case be dismissed on grounds the offense charged did not constitute a crime.

Santa Fe Sets Service On New Streamliner

Starting March 15, Santa Anas will be able to journey to San Diego or Los Angeles via the new Santa Fe Streamliner.

Officials announced today that a new five-car unit will be placed in service on that date for the short run from Los Angeles south.

Twelve new streamliners will be added to the company's service starting Feb. 22, giving Santa Fe the largest fleet of ultra-modern lightweight trains in the world, according to President Samuel T. Bledsoe.

By summer the Santa Fe will have in operation a total of 30,900 horsepower; 23,400 in road service and 7500 in switching service, more than either Germany or France, heretofore considered the home of the Diesel-electric engine.

Highlighting the Santa Fe program are three additional continental trains running on a 39½-hour basis between Chicago and Los Angeles; two new streamliners for daylight runs between Kansas City and Chicago, and the new lightweight train between Los Angeles and San Diego.

CRANSTON CASE PROBED

Charges against J. A. Cranston, former Santa Ana school superintendent, were laid before the county grand jury today by Mrs. Esther Rasmussen, daughter of an 80-year-old woman who was under Cranston's guardianship for several years.

The jury's action in hearing the complaint was reported in The Journal exclusively Monday.

Cranston, she told the jury, has mismanaged financial affairs of her mother, Mrs. Sophie Girardelly. She asked further investigation by the grand jury of her complaint.

Investigation of several minor criminal cases took up most of the jury's time this morning, with Mrs. Rasmussen being allowed only 15 minutes with the investigators. The jury, reported to be almost ready to submit a report, talked with Dep. Sheriff Fred Swazey, Justices Cal Lester of Orange and D. J. Dodge of Newport township, and Constable George Bartley of Orange. Lester and Bartley reportedly were questioned about a traffic case in which complaints were filed in both Orange and Anaheim townships, due to a misunderstanding. Indications were the jury's investigation of that was merely routine.

Payment of Bill Refused Because Of Facial Scar

A three-inch scar on the face of a small child today had become central point in a suit for Dr. J. M. Bulpitt to collect a $189 doctor's bill from Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Bohem. The suit was filed by the Orange County Medical bureau.

In an answer to the suit, which came to trial in Santa Ana justice court yesterday, the Bohems alleged Dr. Bulpitt had caused the scar four years ago when he performed a Caesarian operation at the time of the infant's birth.

Mr. and Mrs. Bohem claimed they had an understanding with Dr. Bulpitt in which it was agreed they should make no further payment until the scar disappeared.

Organization of a "farmers' protective association" to combat labor union dictation in the transportation of products to and from market was proposed for the 10 Southern California counties today—but Orange county has received no bid to join.

Holmes Bishop, president of the Associated Farmers of California, said no overtures had been made in this county, although he had heard that the project was being undertaken.

BOARD IN NEW POLICY ON BATTLE

May Keep 'Hands-Off' In Welfare Shake-Up

A rift between Supervisor Steele Finley and Welfare Director Jack Snow still was wide open today, and other supervisors bowed out for a week's respite before making a decision in which they must slap the face of one of the warriors.

Indications were, however, the board would slap their colleague, Finley, and support Snow.

"HANDS-OFF" RULE
Hints of a possible change in policy to a "hands-off" rule in dealing with appointive officers were heard as the board postponed for a week action on Snow's request for reclassification of two of his employees, made to the board over Finley's head.

Snow wanted to switch places between Miss Eleanor J. Redmond, $140-a-month supervising social worker, and Mrs. Josephine L. Jordan, $110-a-month social worker. Finley disapproved, so Snow made the change, then asked approval from the other four supervisors.

EMBARRASSING
"This," said Supervisor John Mitchell yesterday afternoon when the delicate question came up after a "huddle" between supervisors and Snow, "is the most embarrassing thing since I have been a member of the board."

"I find myself," said Supervisor Harry Riley, "torn by conflicting emotions."

WEST SILENT
Supervisor N. E. West, whose influence caused Snow's appointment last year when the "new deal" board fired Byron Curry, remained silent. So did Finley.

Riley said, however, that he was "eager to cooperate with Mr. Finley as committeeman for the welfare department," but that he was "more than eager to recognize the responsibility of department heads and cooperate with them."

Mitchell said he "always liked to stay with the heads of the departments—it seems to me to be a handicap if the board attempts to dictate to them."

Observers predicted West, Riley and Mitchell would approve Snow's management of the department and leave Finley in the cold when the matter is brought to a head next week.

Snow maintained the change was "merely a routine shift," but rumor has had it that Snow planned a larger-scale shakeup, and that this week's request was merely forerunner to more changes to be made if he is sustained as actual head of the welfare department.

Farmers Forming Organization for Anti-Labor War

Organization of a "farmers' protective association" to combat labor union dictation in the transportation of products to and from market was proposed for the 10 Southern California counties today—but Orange county has received no bid to join.

Holmes Bishop, president of the Associated Farmers of California, said no overtures had been made in this county, although he had heard that the project was being undertaken.

By far the largest number of boats in the harbor are from 20 to 30 feet in length. These number 534. Next come those under 20 feet, with 344 registered; from 30 to 40 feet, 279; from 40 to 55 feet, 123; from 55 to 75 feet, 16; from 75 to 100 feet, 6; from 100 to 150 feet, two, and from 150 feet to 250 feet, two.

Only one vessel requires a draft of from 16 to 20 feet; 703 require a draft of less than four feet. Most visiting boats, on the other hand, are from 40 to 55 feet long—there were 180 of these.

And as a final note, 338,051 persons took pleasure trips in, around and out of the harbor during 1937!

.70 INCHES IN FORENOON DOWNPOUR

Boats Held in Harbor By Storm Warnings

BULLETIN
Southern California's threatened storm apparently reached its climax shortly before noon here, when a near-cloudburst filled the gutters to overflowing and a heavy wind whipped trees and awnings. From the Knox and Stout weather station came the report that .79 of an inch fell between 7:30 a. m. and noon, making a total for the storm of .96 inches.

Whistling down from the north, a screaming, rain-laden gale was due to hit Orange county some time today.

Storm warnings were posted from San Francisco to San Diego.

Harbor-master Thos. Bouchey warned boat owners they left the safety of Newport harbor at their own peril, as hatches were battered down, lines strengthened and red storm flags whipped in the freshening wind.

At 8 a. m. today up to .35 of an inch of rain had fallen in Orange county, accompanied by a light wind. By noon dark storm clouds were scudding overhead.

DEWPOINT DISAPPEARS
Dewpoint the Duck was nowhere to be seen, as the wind freshened. Searching parties were sent out for the hooded harbinger of Jupiter Pluvius, as the boss recalled his warning croak of yesterday.

"Shiver me timbers! This time it's really coming down . . . I hate wind!"

After which Dewpoint was heard from no more.

His every prognostication gave some evidence of truth, however, as Santa Ana smiled through a gentle 26 of an inch at the prospects of more. Season totals still

WEST SET FOR HEARING

Supervisor N. E. West of Laguna Beach, facing removal from office on four counts of "wilful and corrupt misconduct in office," prepared today to face Superior Judge H. G. Ames Friday morning to answer the charges brought by the county grand jury two weeks ago.

West was silent as to plans for his defense, but indicated he probably would enter a denial of the charges. According to the penal code, such a denial must be followed by setting of the case for trial.

Although it was generally believed that E. Z. McKinney, who has represented West and the board of supervisors in the past, would appear for the little Laguna supervisor Friday, West would not comment.

"I might even defend myself," he said.

West is charged with soliciting payment of sums amounting to $200 and $1000 from property owners in return for a favorable vote on cancellation of delinquent taxes, with impeding law and order during the 1936 citrus strike, and with making "false and malicious" statements about county officials in the salary ordinance squabble.

Two Woos Would Get Damages

Tai Foo Woo and Bing Quong Woo, names for court attaches to conjure with, appeared today on records in the county clerk's office.

The first Woo filed suit against R. O. King and Daniel O. Norland for the death of his father, the second Woo, last November. Woo two, it seems, was struck by a car while walking along a highway. He remained unidentified for several days. Woo one claims Woo two's death damaged him to the extent of $5258.58.

Newport Harbor Tells Year's Champ Fish Story

The year's biggest fish story came out of Newport harbor today. Harbormaster Thomas Bouchey reported:

That 13,198,730 pounds of fish were landed in the harbor during 1937; of this amount 9,035,490 pounds went to canneries, 3,823,950 pounds were sold in wholesale markets, and 349,290 pounds were caught by sport fishermen!

Total value of the '37 catch, exclusive of sport fish, was placed at $599,438.75, ranking Newport fishing as one of the county's major industries.

More than 250 commercial fishing boats and 87 sport fishing boats hauled in the finny tonnage. Plucked at random from the three-page report to City Engineer R. L. Patterson:

Value of boats in the harbor was cording to Assessor James Sleeper. Six hundred foreign vessels visited the harbor, making 1200 round trips in and out of the harbor.

All the boats using the harbor made a grand total of 194,894 round trips in and out of the new channel—of which 91,980 were made by fishing boats, 57,922 by pleasure boats moored permanently in the harbor, 43,894 by sport fishing boats, and 1200 by the visiting craft.

By far the largest number of boats in the harbor are from 20 to 30 feet in length. These number 534. Next come those under 20 feet, with 344 registered; from 30 to 40 feet, 279; from 40 to 55 feet, 123; from 55 to 75 feet, 16; from 75 to 100 feet, 6; from 100 to 150 feet, two, and from 150 feet to 250 feet, two.

Only one vessel requires a draft of from 16 to 20 feet; 703 require a draft of less than four feet.

Most visiting boats, on the other hand, are from 40 to 55 feet long—there were 180 of these.

And as a final note, 338,051 persons took pleasure trips in, around and out of the harbor during 1937!

Nippon Army Poised for Huge Eastern China Drive

DEFENDERS FACE TRAP IN CORRIDOR

Chinese Confident as War Crisis Arises

SHANGHAI. (AP)—Japanese armies were poised at six points on the Far East map today for a giant campaign to crush Chiang Kai-Shek's legions and swallow the fertile heart of Eastern China.

The magnitude of the campaign which has been in the making since the first shot was fired seven months ago became apparent through new military movements.

Japanese military headquarters disclosed the zero hour was approaching in a communique which said:

MORALE STRONGER

"The troops, with rearranged positions and with morale growing stronger, are impatient for further operations."

The Japanese grand objective was to bottle up 400,000 Chinese troops along the Lunghai railway and conquer the corridor which has kept them from piecing together the Japanese occupied areas in North China and the Yangtze river valley.

But Chinese, facing a six-day attack on the corridor some 300 miles long and 180 to 200 miles wide, found cheer in these developments:

HAMPER ADVANCE

Their troops at the south central fringe of the corridor have kept Japanese south of the Hwai river; persistent guerrilla attacks behind Japanese lines have hampered Nippon's movement of reinforcements and supplies; China's air force has grown; a steady stream of planes and other materials has reached Central China from the south.

The Lunghai railway runs from Hanchow, on the Yellow Sea 375 miles north of Shanghai, through corn, bean and wheat fields to Sian, Shensi province capital 600 miles to the west. Inland 125 miles it crosses the Tsinpu railway at Suchow. At Chengchow, 300 miles from the coast, it crosses the Peiping-Hankow railway. Midway between these points is Kweihsien.

Two Japanese columns were aimed at the southern border of the Lunghai corridor and four were in position on the north. Most of the Chinese force of 400,000 was said to be in the eastern half of the corridor.

AIR VICTORIES

Although Japan's main drive was against the Lunghai corridor, there was no letup in aerial attacks on South China points. Low flying planes struck again at the Canton-Hankow rail artery which has been China's main supply source.

The growing Chinese air force, Chinese said, raided the Japanese airfield at Wuhu, up the Yangtze river from Nanking, setting fire to gasoline tanks. Chinese air-planes operating over Southern Shantung province were said to have destroyed 20 Japanese munition trucks and killed 300 Japanese.

Foreign reports from Hongkong said Japanese planes Saturday machinegunned several junks carrying gasoline under the American Texaco company's charter in waters near that British crown colony.

SUPERVISORS 'ON SPOT'

cussion which resulted from the salary ordinance squabble.

Other supervisors, bewildered, expressed similar sentiments, which Mitchell and Riley were delegated to put on paper, with assistance by Dist. Atty. W. F. Moton, who is legal adviser to both the board and the grand jury.

Their answer will be submitted next Tuesday. What action the grand jury wants, or what action the supervisors will take, remains a question. Probably it will be some sort of case, which may be postponed until after West's trial on the grand jury accusation.

The jury itself looked peculiar in the letter. In the accusation it charged West made malicious and false statements against county officials (mostly in connection with the salary ordinance squabble) knowing that they were untrue.

West's poppings-off included charges that Auditor W. T. Lambert had paid out salary increases illegally. Today the grand jury suggested maybe he did, although he acted on Menton's advice and thereby showed good faith.

Where it all leads, nobody knows. Chances are nothing will get straightened out until after West's trial, and maybe not then.

Meanwhile the supervisors are puzzled, the grand jury is worried, the Spooks are certain, and the county employees are getting too much worrying and not enough working done, as the grand jury itself pointed out when it hung the roundhouse swing on the West chin.

BENEFITS EXTENDED

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—The state senate has voted to extend New York's unemployment insurance to nearly all wage earners regardless of the amount of their salary.

A car reported stolen from Los Angeles was picked up just north of the river bridge on Santa Ana boulevard by local police last night.

Organist Leads Church Members On Music March

UNIONTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Like a modern Pled Piper, Organist Gatty Sellers led his audience through the streets of this Western Pennsylvania city, but not to music.

Sellers came here to give a recital last night in the Asbury Methodist Episcopal church.

But the organ wouldn't play, so Sellers in the lead, the audience marched to the Third Presbyterian church.

So Sellers left for Clarksburg, W. Va., for a recital there and promised to return next Monday.

SKINNY SKRIBBLES

The board of supervisors has selected Charley Chapman to take charge of the land department of the flood control projects in Orange county. Well, they can't do everything wrong.

Reading from left to right in Monday's Journal I notice where some of the boys forgot to go home Sunday night, and a hold-up man took away from them about $1620 worth of jewelry and cash. Fullerton and Anaheim were the scenes of the stick-up. Some people don't seem to make any distinction between the Lord's day and any other day when there is a poker game going on. But the hold-up man does.

Hugh Lowe has returned from an automobile trip to Mexico City to tell me that some parts of the highway are even better than what we have in California, and while I was surprised to hear it I wasn't prepared to admit it. Us Californians are reluctant to yield any superiority in anything.

Late weather prediction for moisture is qualified with the word "uncertain." That's what a visitor call selling the weather short.

It's a long trek from Des Moines, Iowa, to Santa Ana, Calif., for a cup of coffee, but the accidental contact was worth it. E. O. Fessler, prominent business man in the Hawk-Eye state capital, meets his old friend George Shaw. Then the gab started. Length of corn, how the pigs were getting along, price of wheat and cattle, and thence out of the country into the big city where Harlan Miller writes "Over the Coffee" for the Register. Fessler is visiting relatives in the Orange sector.

They'll do it every time. Visitor inquires for the location of Main street. He couldn't even find the street let alone the car, but he did recollect that he parked on Main. This happens to the best of families, and sometimes to one man's family.

Friend goes to the springs when we have plenty of water at home, but it isn't of the spa variety. He may be at Voshory's or Gilman's or Swoboda or Palm. He didn't tell me, but I'll find out. If you have a pain in the neck it's not a bad idea to leave it at one of those delightful mountain resorts.

STOCKS FALTER AT CLOSING

NEW YORK. (AP)—Stocks swung into a moderate rally today, but faltered under profit taking and some gains were transferred to the minor columns.

For a time transactions perked up on the advance, but the pace dwindled later. Offerings were plentiful, but demand fell off as traders cashed their gains.

Film Actress Sued On Agent Contract

NEW YORK. (AP)—Frances Farmer, motion picture and stage star, has been served with a suit for $75,000 by an actor's agent, Shepard Traube, who claims she broke a 1935 contract under which she became her representative.

Miss Farmer's attorney has entered a general denial of the complaint in supreme court.

Steel Gives CIO New Contract

NEW YORK. (AP)—The United States Steel corporation today granted the Committee for Industrial Organization a new union contract replacing the current agreement expiring Feb. 28. Half a million workers are affected.

The only substantial change made in the old contract, which now is renewed indefinitely, was a provision for conferences of 10 days' notice by either side for the purpose of negotiating changes.

UNIFORM SYSTEM

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The maritime commission has ordered subsidized shipping companies to adopt a uniform system of accounts.

CITRUS MEN POOL EFFORTS

Citrus organizations in the state in order to meet the surplus crop situation have forgotten their differences, pooled their efforts, and will work together in meeting the problem of marketing more than 76,000,000 dozens of oranges.

This announcement came today from Harry Damerel, chairman of the California Orange Growers Stabilization committee.

Those who have pooled their efforts toward the one course are: California Fruit Growers exchange, Mutual Orange Distributors and independent shippers.

The committee, Damerel said, are to be substantially aided by the National Association of Food Chains, the Independent Food Distributors council and the department of agriculture.

"Every dozen of oranges sold will add to the income of the state," is the unofficial slogan.

AMATEUR FILM FANS INVITED

If you are interested in amateur motion picture photography here's the chance to get acquainted with persons thinking along the same line.

A group of local enthusiasts will organize a club for amateur movie fans at the Barn on Mayberry street next Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. In connection with the program 8 m. m. films from the annual exhibit of the American Cinematographers will be shown.

In charge of the opening session program will be Robert Hockaday, E. M. Sundquist and Dr. Newell Moore.

need for additional funds might run as high as $500,000,000.

The President told reporters he was studying the relief subject from the point of view of relieving human needs rather than one of business pump-priming. He indicated that he expected to have something definite to say in the next few days.

A WPA official said that in the week ending Jan. 22 there were 1,331,961 persons getting federal work relief and that the number had increased since that time.

He disclosed that present WPA plans, based on current funds, call for a peak load of just under 2,000,000 this month and then a gradual reduction to 1,500,000 by June 30. Last year on Feb. 27 there were 2,145,562 persons on the rolls.

PERCENTAGE FOR HOUSING

You can now apply for a 90 per cent loan under the terms of the new federal housing act, C. A. Warren told persons attending the Orange County Builders exchange meeting last night at Balboa.

Warren, who is vice president of the Santa Ana Bank of America, said inquiries and applications on home loans are already showing marked increase since President Roosevelt signed the revised housing act.

Both Warren and J. E. Bleaux, another member of the bank staff here spoke, explaining features of the housing act to those present. Sixty-five members and friends of the exchange attended the meeting last night, according to Secretary G. W. Bassett. Donald B. Kirby, new president of the organization, presided.

Hitler May Continue Nazi 'Purge'

BERLIN. (AP)—Sources professing to know Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's mind forecast today a secret domestic policy council parallel to the foreign policy council he created in his shake-up of Reich leadership last Friday.

These sources said Germany wants never again to find herself strong at arms but weak economically as she was in 1914.

Field Marshal Herman Goering, No. 2 Nazi and head of Germany's four-year plan for economic self-sufficiency, is charged with realizing that ambition. He is determined that Germany be prepared for all eventualities.

Informed quarters, therefore, believe a secret domestic policy council will be organized to bring internal planning into step with the objectives of the foreign council.

Wilhelm Frick, minister of interior, would be made president of the council, they predict, and would be succeeded in the interior ministry by Heinrich Himmler, now head of all German police organizations.

'House of Flops' Turns to Empty Tomb

NEW YORK. (AP)—Famous Old Cain's Warehouse—the "house of flops" where the skeleton remains of Broadway's swift-folding theatrical mistakes have gone for half a century—itsself has flopped.

The so-called "Journey's end" of show business expired quietly weeks ago, it became known today, with the ancient red-brick building on West Forty-First street now as empty and tomb-like as the stages it denuded down the years.

The owner, Patsy Cain, a tactician man befitting his title of "the mortician of Broadway," hauled the last of the three-act corpses to the city dumps and cremated them so silently that even dramatic critics were unaware of the passing of Cain's.

Its demise robs reviewers of the passing tinseltown scene of one of their most picturesque phrases—"gone to Cain's," a substitute for the word "flopped"—and ends the long parade of typical first night comments beloved by critics.

"You could hear Cain's horses neighing in the alley at the end of the first act," ran one of them.

Perhaps the most famous usage of the "Cain refrain" was Walter Winchell's seven word review of Arthur Hopkins' first production, a play called "Steve." It read: "A voice from Cain's:— 'I gotcha, Steve.'"

With the retirement of Cain, his son has gone into another business. He's an undertaker.

GOOSE DOWN FOR MOTORS

Feathers Aid Future Flying

LANGLEY FIELD, Va. (AP)—Goose down is helping make airplane engines safer and more efficient.

Scientists of the national advisory committee for aeronautics are using the goose down to make visible the flow of air and other gases inside the cylinder of a fast - running airplane engine.

High-speed motion picture cameras record these currents of gases in split thousandths of a second.

One camera, believed to be the fastest ever made, takes 40,000 photographs a second. The other, which makes 10 pictures at once at the rate of 2000 sets a second, exposes each for only one-millionth of a second.

Slower speeds—2500 "frames" a second—are used to photograph the gas distribution as shown by the goose down. The higher speeds are used to photograph the lightning-fast explosions of gas inside the cylinder as they drive the engine. All the pictures are made through special steel-hard glass windows fitted into the sides and top of the cylinders.

When developed and studied by research engineers, these motion pictures show changes which can be made in the fuel and in cylinder design.

Dr. George W. Lewis, director of research for the committee, said: "The results of this research will, we believe, make trans-Pacific and trans-Atlantic flying much more practical because it will bring about greater range for aircraft on the same gasoline."

CAPONE CASE CONSIDERED

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Reports were current today that Al Capone, under observation in the hospital ward at Alcatraz island federal prison, might be transferred to the federal hospital at Springfield, Mo.

The rumor persisted that the Chicago gangster, serving time for income tax law evasion, was suffering from paresis, a condition which brings about destruction of the brain cells.

Dr. Edward Twitchell, consulting psychiatrist for Alcatraz, who admitted yesterday he had visited Capone on a special call Sunday, observed:

"Whether Capone has paresis, or anybody else has it, it now is a curable condition. Malarial treatment in favorable cases results in pretty rapid response."

Reports that Capone would be removed to Springfield were based on lack of facilities for the malarial treatment to be given at Alcatraz.

Warden James A. Johnston refused to discuss the case other than to observe that no orders for a transfer to Springfield had been received.

Strong Cheese Makes Handits Run for Home

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Give George Claus Mangels his choice of weapons and he'll take cheese.

Last night two men entered his shop. One asked for 25 cents worth of cheese. "Sliced, or all in one piece?" asked Mangels.

For answer, police said, one of the holdup men drew a gun. Mangels picked up the whole block of cheese and let fly.

The surprised bandit ducked, fired once, and then both bandits fled. Mangels had a slight scalp wound, but the cash register was untouched.

DARYMEN HERE WAIT HEARING

State Code Attacked In Los Angeles Suit

A. A. Brock, state agricultural commissioner, who plans to conduct hearings in Orange county after March 1 preparatory to setting a minimum price on milk, was attacked yesterday in a suit filed at Los Angeles by 83 dairymen.

The legal action, filed by Atty. Lewis D. Collings against Brock, challenges the constitutionality of the state agricultural code, Brock, last Feb. 1, fixed the minimum price for milk sold in Los Angeles county stores at 10 cents a quart, a 1 cent increase, and that delivered at homes at 11 cents. He also reduced the price received by the producer 3 cents a pound of butter fat content to 69 cents.

Storekeepers protested at the hearing that there was no need to increase the price to consumer and decrease it to the producer at the same time.

Collings charged the law violates the state constitution in that it does not have uniform operation, delegates legislative and judicial powers to Brock as director of agriculture, and is a local and special law for the assessment and collection of taxes. He further contends it is unconstitutional because it attempts to limit the free right of contract among producers, distributors and consumers.

Brock is scheduled to conduct hearings at Sacramento and in Salinas Valley before coming to Orange county sometime after the first part of March. Any price setting in this county will be entirely up to Brock.

Negro Play Stops Drawing When WPA Pretties It Up

HYPOCRISY PUNISHED

Satan prods a wayward sister into Hell, housed in the orchestra pit at the Federal theater presentation of the Negro play "Heaven Bound."

(By the (AP) Feature Service)
ATLANTA.—Off and on for seven years a negro religious play, "Heaven Bound," has been packing in Dixie audiences. It was started as a pageant to raise money for the Big Bethel African Methodist Episcopal church.

A hit from the start, new parts, new hymns and new episodes were added as performances were repeated. The cast grew to more than 100.

Recently, the WPA took a hand in the production. It streamlined the angels, gilded the narrow path to the Pearly Gates, and tailored the robes of the Pilgrims in style.

For the first performance with the federal additions, the Atlanta theater couldn't hold the crowds. But after that there was room to spare. Some critics asserted the refinements had crowded out some of the fervor of the natural folk play.

But Nellie Lindley Davis, English teacher of Clark university and author of the play, doesn't agree. Neither does the play's satan who in real life is Henry Furlow, a civics teacher.

They have this explanation for the decrease in attendance: "It's just because everyone in Atlanta has seen the play, some of them as many as 25 times."

Among the works to be heard are Passacaglia in C Minor, the Toccata and Fugue in D Minor, the two famous Fugues in G Minor, the melody of "Come Sweet Death," and several chorals including "Christ Lay in the Bonds of Death" and "Out of the Deep I Call to Thee."

Conducted by Halstead McCormac, director of music at the First Methodist church, the class will last an hour. Symphonies and other shorter pieces of symphonic literature of eight, great composers for orchestra will be played on an 11-tube radio-phonograph combination to be brought in for use in the class.

FLORIDA CITRUS GETS ATTENTION

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The agricultural adjustment administration rejected today a proposed marketing agreement to regulate out-of-state shipments of Florida citrus fruit because of "wide differences of opinion" within the industry as to its provisions.

The AAA said these conflicting views were disclosed at a public hearing on the proposed pact at Lakeland, Fla., last month.

This development was considered the end of any possibility an agreement would be placed in effect for this season's crop, but AAA officials emphasized it did not close the door to new negotiations next season.

INSURANCE ASKED TO COOPERATE

Sixty-five general insurance men of Orange and Los Angeles counties heard James H. Cowles, president of the state underwriters' association warn that the future of life underwriting on "cooperative effort rather than individual campaigns," yesterday afternoon in city council chambers.

Cowles was the featured speaker on a program presented by the caravan committee of the Los Angeles Underwriters' association, in the form of a sales congress. Sponsoring group was the Orange county association.

"The power of any group," said Cowles, "is evidenced by the collective cooperation of the entire organization. The continued progress of life underwriting depends on the cooperation, not only of individual members, but also on the unification of the entire association into one active group."

President William B. Moore, jr. of the county association, presided over the meeting. Speakers included:

Alex A. Dewar, president of the Los Angeles association; Kellogg Van Winkle of Los Angeles, president of the National Charter Life Underwriters; Cowles; Los Angeles association; Don Stever, president of the Pasadena Underwriters' association; and Harry B. Keeling, Los Angeles.

Girls, would you like to know

Give Me Bacon, French Fried

BY DALE CARNEGIE

I once took a 10-day canoe trip down the Allagash river with Homer Croy, writer. We traveled by canoe all day and then pitched tent in the evening, caught a few trout, and our guide cooked them over the camp fire—cooked them while we sat listening to the wind moaning through the pines and the Allagash foaming over rocks. We were astonished the first evening to discover that although our guides cooked trout for us, they fried bacon for themselves. Eating bacon when you could eat trout, it didn't make sense. But a week later, we found ourselves preferring bacon to trout.

Rainbow trout and caviar and canvassback duck are all right for a change; but for a good, steady diet, give me bacon and hashed brown potatoes.

DOG AS PHILOSOPHER
A friend of mine feared he was going to have a nervous breakdown. He was worried, working too hard, couldn't relax. He didn't take sufficient exercise. He didn't go to a nerve specialist, and he didn't go to his own doctor. Instead he went to a general practitioner he had never seen before, a man who was classed as a "family doctor." The doctor gave him just one piece of advice: to get a dog; relax and take exercise with the dog; make a pal of him.

That prescription might not fit the needs of everyone, but I am a firm believer in that everyone who doesn't live in a city apartment ought to have a dog. A dog knows more about the art of winning friends than all the philosophers and psychologists that have ever lived since the beginning of time. Girls, would you like to know how to make a hit with almost any man? Here is the answer: Look at him carefully, with a bit of distrust in your eyes, and then remark: "You know, you remind me of what Lady Caroline said of Lord Byron?"

Few men are going to be bored with a remark like that. They are not going to change the subject. That statement has suspense. It also has a literary and biographical tang. And you are tying it right down to the man you are talking to. It has a "me" slant to it that is highly important.

Pause and watch your impatient male inquire: "What did Lady Caroline say about Lord Byron?" The answer is "Lady Caroline said Lord Byron was bold, bad and dangerous to know."

Secretly, girls, almost every man, even if he is 60 and shy and has dandruff, still likes to fancy himself as being a bit bold, a bit bad and a bit dangerous.

Applicants must be financially distinct. If they can secure loans from any other governmental or private agencies they are ineligible.

Loans will be available within the next 10 days, according to an announcement from the Farm Loan Administration at Washington. Interest rate will be at 4 per cent a year.

Further information on this agency is available at the Farm Advisory in the Orange county courthouse annex, according to H. E. Wahlberg, George Peck, district supervisor, will call at the office to interview applicants soon. Several loans were made in the county last year under the plan, said Wahlberg.

Cafe Holdup Nets $100,000 Haul

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Three bandits held up the Arena Bar on Biscayne boulevard today, rifled a bank of private safe deposit boxes and escaped with cash and jewelry unofficially estimated at $50,000 to $100,000.

With crowbars the men pried open some 20 safe deposit boxes where the owners and a number of friends and customers kept their valuables.

Nippon Army Poised for Huge Eastern China Drive

DEFENDERS FACE TRAP IN CORRIDOR

Chinese Confident as War Crisis Arises

SHANGHAI. (AP)—Japanese armies were used at six points on the Far East war map today for a giant campaign to crush Chiang Kai-Shek's legions and swallow the fertile heart of Eastern China.

The magnitude of the campaign which has been in the making since the first shot was fired seven months ago became apparent through new military movements.

Japanese military headquarters disclosed the zero hour was approaching in a communique which said:

MORALE STRONGER
"The troops, with rearranged positions and with morale growing stronger, are impatient for further operations."

The Japanese grand objective was to bottle up 400,000 Chinese troops along the Lunghai railway and conquer the corridor which has kept them from piecing together the Japanese occupied areas in North China and the Yangtze river valley.

But Chinese, facing a six-way attack on the corridor some 300 miles long and 180 to 200 miles wide, found cheer in these developments:

HAMPER ADVANCE
"Their troops at the south central fringe of the corridor have kept Japanese south of the Hwai river; persistent guerrilla attacks behind Japanese lines have hampered Nippon's movement of reinforcements and supplies; China's air force has grown; a steady stream of planes and war materials has reached Central China from the south."

The Lunghai railway runs from Haichow, on the Yellow Sea 375 miles north of Shanghai, through corn, bean and wheat fields 600 miles to the west. Inland 125 miles it crosses the Tsinpu railway at Suchow. At Chengchow, 300 miles from the coast, it crosses the Peiping-Hankow railway. Midway between these points is Kweilin.

Two Japanese columns were aimed at the southern border of the Lunghai corridor and four were in position on the north. Most of the Chinese force of 400,000 was said to be in the eastern half of the corridor.

AIR VICTORIES
Although Japan's main drive was against the Lunghai corridor, there was no letup in aerial attacks on South China points. Low flying planes struck again at the Canton-Hankow railway which has been China's main supply source.

The growing Chinese air force, Chinese said, raided the Japanese airfield at Wuhu, on the Yangtze river from Nanking, setting fire to gasoline tanks. Chinese air-planes operating over Southern Shantung province were said to have destroyed 20 Japanese munition trucks and killed 300 Japanese.

Foreign reports from Hongkong said Japanese planes Saturday machinegunned several junks carrying gasoline under the American Texaco company's charter in waters near that British crown colony.

causation which rested on the salary ordinance squabble. Other supervisors, bewildered, expressed similar sentiments, which Mitchell and Riley were delegated to put on paper, with assistance by Dist. Atty. W. F. Menton, who is legal adviser to both the board and the grand jury.

Their answer will be submitted next Tuesday. What action the grand jury wants, or what action the supervisors will take, remains a question. Probably it will be some sort of test case, which may be postponed until after West's trial on the grand jury accusation.

The jury itself looked peculiar in the letter. In the accusation it charged West made malicious and false statements against county officials (mostly in connection with the salary ordinance squabble) knowing that they were untrue.

West's poppings-off included charges that Auditor W. T. Lambert had paid out salary increases illegally. Today the grand jury suggested maybe he did, although he acted on Menton's advice and thereby showed good faith.

Where it all leads, nobody knows. Chances are nothing will get straightened out until after West's trial, and maybe not then. Meanwhile the supervisors are puzzled, the grand jury is worried, the Spooks are certain, and the county employees are getting too much worrying and not enough working done, as the grand jury itself pointed out when it hung the roundhouse swing on the West chin.

BENEFITS EXTENDED
ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—The state senate has voted to extend New York's unemployment insurance to nearly all wage earners regardless of the amount of their salary.

Organist Leads Church Members On Music March

UNIONTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Like a modern Pled Piper, Organist Gatty Sellers led his audience through the streets of this Western Pennsylvania city, but not to music.

Sellers came here to give a recital last night in the Asbury Methodist Episcopal church.

But the organ wouldn't play, so Sellers in the lead, the audience marched to the Third Presbyterian church.

And that organ wouldn't play, so Sellers left for Clarksburg, W. Va., for a recital there and promised to return next Monday.

SKINNY SKRIBBLES

The board of supervisors has selected Charley Chapman to take charge of the land department of the flood control projects in Orange county. Well, they can't do everything wrong.

Reading from left to right in Monday's Journal I notice where some of the boys forgot to go home Sunday night, and a hold-up man took away from them about $1620 worth of jewelry and cash. Fullerton and Anaheim were the scenes of the stick-up. Some people don't seem to make any distinction between the Lord's day and any other day when there is a poker game going on. But the hold-up man does.

Hugh Lowe has returned from an automobile trip to Mexico City to tell me that some parts of the highway are even better than what we have in California, and while I was surprised to hear it, I'm prepared to admit it. Us Californians are reluctant to yield any superiority in anything.

Late weather prediction for moisture is qualified with the word "uncertain." That's what you might call selling the weather short.

It's a long trek from Des Moines, Iowa, to Santa Ana, Calif., for a cup of coffee, but the accidental contact was worth it. E. O. Fessler, prominent business man in the Hawk-Eye state capital, meets his old friend George Shaw. Then the gab started. Length of corn, how the pigs were getting along, price of wheat and cattle, and thence out of the country into the big city where Harlan Miller writes "Over the Coffee" for The Register. Fessler is visiting relatives in the Orange section.

They'll do it every time. Visitor inquires for the location of Main street. He couldn't even find the street let alone the car, but he did recall that he parked on Main. This happens to the best of families, and sometimes to one man's family.

Friend goes to the springs when we have plenty of water at home, but it isn't of the spa variety. He may be at Voseberg's or Gilman's or Swobod or Pank. He didn't tell me, but I'll find out. If you have a pain in the neck it's not a bad idea to leave it at one of those delightful mountain resorts.

STOCKS FALTER AT CLOSING

NEW YORK. (AP)—Stocks swung into a moderate rally today, but faltered under profit taking and some gains were transferred to the minus column.

For a time transactions perked up on the advance, but the pace dwindled later. Offerings were plentiful, but demand fell off as traders cashed their gains.

Film Actress Sued On Agent Contract

NEW YORK. (AP)—Frances Farmer, motion picture and stage star, has been served with a suit for $75,000 by an actor's agent, Shepard Traube, who claims she broke a 1935 contract under which he became her representative.

Farmer's attorney has entered a general denial of the complaint in supreme court.

Steel Gives CIO New Contract

NEW YORK. (AP)—The United States Steel corporation today granted the Committee for Industrial Organization a new union contract replacing the current agreement expiring Feb. 28. Half a million workers are affected.

The only substantial change made in the old contract, which now is renewed indefinitely, was a provision for conferences of 10 days' notice by either side for the purpose of negotiating changes.

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The maritime commission has ordered subsidizing shipping companies to adopt a uniform system of accounts.

CITRUS MEN POOL EFFORTS

Citrus organizations in the state in order to meet the surplus crop situation have forgotten their differences, pooled their efforts, and will work together in meeting the problem of marketing more than 76,000 tons of oranges.

This announcement came today from Harry Damerel, chairman of the California Orange Growers Stabilization committee.

Those who have pooled their efforts toward the one course are: California Fruit Growers exchange, Mutual Orange Distributors and independent shippers.

The committee, Damerel said, are to be substantially aided by the National Association of Food Chains, the Independent Food Distributors council and the department of agriculture.

Every dozen oranges sold will add to the income of the state, is the unofficial slogan.

need for additional funds might run as high as $500,000.00.

The President told reporters he was studying the relief subject from the point of view of relieving human needs rather than one of business pump-priming. He indicated that he expected to have something definite to say in the next few days.

An official said that in the week ending Jan. 22 there were 1,831,961 persons getting federal work relief and that the number had increased since that time.

He disclosed that present WPA plans, based on current funds, call for a peak load of just under 2,000,000 this month and then a gradual reduction to 1,500,000 by June 30. Last year on Feb. 27 there were 2,145,562 persons on the rolls.

PERCENTAGE FOR HOUSING

You can now apply for a 90 per cent loan under the terms of the new federal housing act, C. A. Warren told persons attending the Orange County Builders exchange meeting last night at Balboa.

Warren, who is vice president of the Santa Ana Bank of America, said inquiries and applications on home loans are already showing marked increase since President Roosevelt signed the revised housing act.

Both Warren and J. E. Bleau, another member of the bank staff here spoke, explaining features of the housing act to those present. Sixty-five members and friends of the exchange attended the meeting last night, according to Secretary G. W. Bassett. Donald B. Kirby, new president of the organization, presided.

Hitler May Continue Nazi 'Purge'
BERLIN. (AP)—Sources professing to know Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's mind forecast today a secret domestic policy counsel parallel to the foreign policy council he created in his shake-up of Reich leadership last Friday.

These sources said Germany wants never again to find herself strong at arms but weak economically as she was in 1914.

Field Marshal Herman Wilhelm Goering, No. 2 Nazi and head of Germany's four-year plan for economic self-sufficiency, is charged with realizing that ambition. He determined that Germany be prepared for all eventualities.

Informed quarters, therefore, believe a secret domestic policy council will be organized to bring internal planning into step with the objectives of the foreign council.

Wilhelm Frick, minister of interior, would be made president of the council, they predict, and would be succeeded in the interior ministry by Heinrich Himmler, now head of all German police organizations.

'House of Flops' Turns to Empty Tomb
NEW YORK. (AP)—Famous Old Cain's Warehouse—the "house of flops" where the skeleton remains of Broadway's swift-folding theatrical mistakes have gone for half a century—itsself has flopped.

The so-called "Journey's end" of show business expired quietly weeks ago, it became known today, with the ancient red-brick building on West Forty-First street now as empty and tomb like as the stages it denuded down the years.

The owner, Patsy Cain, a taciturn man befitting his title of "the mortician of Broadway," hauled the last of the three-act corpses to the city dumps and cremated them so silently that even

DIVER'S DEATH SAID MURDER

NEW YORK. (AP)—Mrs. Harriet Brown Neilsen, former national amateur diving champion, whose bruised body was found yesterday in a furnished Manhattan room died as the result of "a homicidal assault," Dr. Milton Helpern, assistant medical examiner, declared today after an autopsy.

Earlier today, William King Loftus, 45, a WPA saxophone player, who was Mrs. Neilsen's drinking companion and said he spent the night with her in the furnished room, was held without bail by Magistrate Alfred M. Lindau in homicide court for hearing Monday on a charge of suspicion of homicide in connection with her death.

Dr. Helpern said Mrs. Neilsen's death had been due to a hemorrhage in the abdomen "as a result of a homicidal assault." He said the injury could have been the result of a blow to the abdomen.

FARM BUREAU CITES WASTE

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The California Farm Bureau federation, criticizing the railroads today for asking a 15 per cent freight rate increase, called for elimination of "extravagant and wasteful" practices by the carriers.

Truth of the matter is we have more transportation than the available traffic can support, both rail and highway," the federation said in a brief filed with the interstate commerce commission.

"The railroad plant is too big for what it has to do.

"Permanent relief will come only through the abandonment of unprofitable lines, elimination of service, elimination of wasteful and circuitous hauls, reorganization of financial structures, and payment of no more than reasonable compensation for services rendered."

GOOSE DOWN FOR MOTORS

LANGLEY FIELD, Va. (AP)—Goose down is helping make airplane engines safer and more efficient.

Scientists of the national advisory committee for aeronautics are using the goose down to make visible the flow of air and other gases inside the cylinder of a fast-running airplane engine.

High-speed motion picture cameras record these currents of gases in split thousandths of a second.

One camera, believed to be the fastest ever made, takes 40,000 photographs a second. The other, which makes 10 pictures at once at the rate of 2000 sets a second, exposes each for only one-millionth of a second.

Slower speeds—2500 "frames" a second—are used to photograph the gas distribution as shown by the goose down. The higher speeds are used to photograph the lighting-fast explosions of gas inside the cylinder as they drive the engine. All the pictures are made through special steel-hard glass windows fitted into the sides and top of the cylinders.

When developed and studied by research engineers, these motion pictures show changes which can be made in the fuel and in cylinder design.

Dr. George W. Lewis, director of research for the committee, said: "The results of this research will, we believe, make trans-Pacific and trans-Atlantic flying much more practical because it will bring about greater range for aircraft on the same gasoline."

FUNERAL RITES FOR WILKERSON

Funeral services for Virgil G. Wilkerson, husband of a former Santa Ana woman, Grace Patterson Wilkerson, were held today in Ingewood cemetery.

Mr. Wilkerson was killed Saturday at Del Rey, when his parachute failed to open as he leaped from a falling plane. He had been giving flying lessons at 1000 feet to a pupil, Netherby S. Rankin, 20, who also died in the crash.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Vona Allen of Anaheim, and a brother, R. P. Allen of Tustin. Funeral services will be held Friday at 10 a. m. from the Hilgenfeld funeral home with the Rev. R. Kells Swenerton of Anaheim officiating. Interment will be in the family plot at Fairhaven cemetery.

Little Rages Over Fixing of Milk Prices

DAIRYMEN HERE WAIT HEARING

State Code Attacked In Los Angeles Suit

A. A. Brock, state agricultural commissioner, who plans to conduct hearings in Orange county after March 1 preparatory to setting a minimum price on milk, was attacked yesterday in a suit filed at Los Angeles by 83 dairymen.

The legal action, filed by Atty. Lewis D. Collins against Brock, challenges the constitutionality of the state agricultural code. Brock, last Feb. 1, fixed the minimum price for milk sold in Los Angeles county stores at 10 cents a quart, a 1 cent increase, and that delivered at homes at 11 cents. He also reduced the price received by the producer 3 cents a pound of butter fat content to 69 cents.

Storekeepers protested at the hearing that there was no need to increase the price to consumer and decrease it to the producer at the same time.

Collings charged the law violates the state constitution in that it does not have uniform operation, delegates legislative and judicial powers to Brock as director of agriculture, and is a local and special law for the assessment and collection of taxes. He further contends it is unconstitutional because it attempts to limit the free right of contract among producers, distributors and consumers.

Brock is scheduled to conduct hearings at Sacramento and in Salinas Valley before coming to Orange county sometime after the first part of March. Any price setting in this county will be entirely up to Brock.

Negro Play Stops Drawing When WPA Pretties It Up

HYPOCRISY PUNISHED

Satan prods a wayward sister into Hell, housed in the orchestra pit at the Federal theater presentation of the Negro play "Heaven Bound."

(By the (AP) Feature Service)

ATLANTA.—Off and on for seven years a negro religious play, "Heaven Bound," has been packing in Dixie audiences. It was started as a pious tale to raise money for the Big Bethel African Methodist Episcopal church.

A hit from the start, new parts, new hymns and new episodes were added as performances were repeated. The cast grew to more than 100.

Recently, the WPA took a hand in the production. It streamlined the angels, gilded the narrow path to the Pearly Gates, and tailored the robes of the Pilgrims in style.

For the first performance with the federal additions, the Atlanta theater couldn't hold the crowds. But after that there was room to spare. Some critics asserted the refinements had crowded out some of the fervor of the natural folk play.

But Nellie Lindley Davis, English teacher of Clark university and author of the play, doesn't agree. Neither does the play's Satan who in real life is Henry Furlow, a civics teacher.

"They have this explanation for the decrease in attendance: 'It's just because everyone in Atlanta has seen the play, some of them as many as 25 times.'"

INSURANCE ASKED TO COOPERATE

Sixty-five general insurance men of Orange and Los Angeles counties heard James H. Cowles, president of the state underwriters' association, yesterday afternoon in city council chambers.

Cowles was the featured speaker on a program presented by the caravan committee of the Los Angeles Underwriters' association, in the form of a sales congress. Sponsoring group was the Orange county association.

"The power of any group," said Cowles, "is evidenced by the collective cooperation of the entire organization. The continued progress of life underwriting depends on the cooperation, not only of individual members, but also on the unification of the entire association into one active group."

President William B. Moore, Jr., of the county association, presided over the meeting. Speakers included:

Alex A. Dewar, president of the Los Angeles association; Kellogg Van Winkle of Los Angeles, president of the National Charter Life Underwriters; Cowles; Lewis A. Ariz, supervisor of the Los Angeles association; Don Stever, president of the Pasadena Underwriters' association; and Harry B. Keeling, Los Angeles.

Give Me Bacon, French Fried

BY DALE CARNEGIE

I once took a 10-day canoe trip down the Allagash river with Homer Croy, writer. We traveled by canoe all day and then pitched tent in the evening, caught a few trout, and our guide cooked them over the camp fire—while we sat listening to the wind moaning through the pines and the Allagash foaming over rocks. We were astonished the first evening to discover that although our guides cooked trout for us, they fried bacon for themselves. Eating bacon when you could eat trout, it didn't make sense. But a week later, we found ourselves preferring bacon to trout.

Rainbow trout and caviar and canvasback duck are all right for a change; but for a good, steady diet, give me bacon and hashed brown potatoes.

DOG AS PHILOSOPHER

A friend of mine feared he was going to have a nervous breakdown. He was worried, working too hard, couldn't relax, didn't take sufficient exercise. He didn't go to a nerve specialist, and he didn't go to his own doctor. Instead he went to a general practitioner he had never seen before, a man who was classed as a "family doctor." The doctor gave him just one piece of advice: to get a dog; relax and take exercise with the dog; make a pal of him.

That prescription might not fit the needs of everyone, but I am a firm believer in that everyone who doesn't live in a city apartment ought to have a dog. A dog knows more about the art of winning friends than all the philosophers and psychologists that have ever lived since the beginning of time. Girls, would you like to know how to make a hit with almost any man? Here is the answer: Look at him carefully, with a bit of distrust in your eyes, and then remark: "You know, you remind me of what Lady Caroline said of Lord Byron."

Few men are going to be bored with a remark like that. They are not going to change the subject. That statement has suspense. It also has a literary and biographical tang. And you are tying it right down to the man you are talking to. It has a "me" slant to it that is highly important.

Pause and watch your impatient male inquire: "What did Lady Caroline say about Lord Byron?"

The answer is "Lady Caroline said Lord Byron was bold, bad and dangerous to know."

Secretly, girls, almost every man, even if he is 60 and shy and has dandruff, still likes to fancy himself as being a bit bold, a bit bad and a bit dangerous.

FARMERS OFFERED U. S. LOANS

Orange county farmers distressed as to how they will obtain money for planting crops this spring and feed for their cattle are offered individual loans up to $400 by the federal government.

Applicants must be financially defunct. If they can secure loans from any other governmental or private agencies they are ineligible.

Loans will be available within the next 10 days, according to an announcement from the Farm Loan Administration at Washington. Interest rate will be at 4 per cent a year.

Further information on this agency is available at the Farm Advisory in the Orange county courthouse annex, according to H. E. Wahlberg, George Peck, district supervisor, will call at the office to interview applicants soon. Several loans were made in the county last year under the plan, said Wahlberg.

Cafe Holdup Nets $100,000 Haul

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Three bandits held up the Arena Bar on Biscayne boulevard today, rifled a bank of private safe deposit boxes and escaped with cash and jewelry unofficially estimated at $50,000 to $100,000.

With crowbars the men pried open some 20 safe deposit boxes where the owners and a number of friends and customers kept their valuables.

Music Course Presented by Church

"Music Through the Ages," a course dealing with masterpieces of symphony music, will be presented tonight at 7:30 as one of the classes in the First Methodist church night educational programs.

Conducted by Halstead McCormack, director of music at the First Methodist church, the class will last an hour. Symphonies and other shorter pieces of symphonic literature of eight great composers for orchestra will be played on an 11-tube radio-phonograph combination to be brought in for use in the class.

This course will continue for eight Wednesday evenings, the works of one composer to be taken up at each meeting. Music of Johann Sebastian Bach, transcribed by Leopold Stokowski and played by the Philadelphia orchestra, will be heard at the first class tonight.

Among his works to be heard are Passacaglia in C Minor, the Toccata and Fugue in D Minor, the two famous Fugues in G Minor, the melody of "Come Sweet Death," and several choral preludes including "Christ Lay in the Bonds of Death" and "Out of the Deep I Call to Thee."

FLORIDA CITRUS GETS ATTENTION

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The agricultural adjustment administration rejected today a proposed marketing agreement to regulate out-of-state shipments of Florida citrus fruit because of "wide differences of opinion" within the industry as to its provisions.

The AAA said these conflicting views were disclosed at a public hearing on the proposed pact at Lakeland, Fla., last month.

This development was considered the end of any possibility an agreement would be placed in effect for this season's crop, but AAA officials emphasized it did not close the door to new negotiations next season.

TOKYO WILL SPURN NAVY NOTE, REPORT

TOKYO. (AP)—Authoritative sources said today Japan would refuse to give naval information asked by the United States, Great Britain and France in a reply to be handed to the ambassadors of those countries, probably Friday.

Along with the reply, which was being drafted by navy and foreign office authorities, the government was expected to make a "clarifying statement" on the naval program.

Tatsuo Kawai, foreign office spokesman, said today in a statement of personal opinion that Japan fails to see the need of American naval expansion if the United States "lacks the intention to quarantine or police foreign waters."

The official government statement was the subject of conferences today between Premier Prince Fumimaro Kono and Admiral Mitsumasa Yonai, naval minister. Cabinet approval was expected tomorrow.

The United States, Britain and France had asked in formal notes that Japan inform them by Feb. 20 of any plans to build battleships exceeding the 35,000-ton limit set by the 1936 naval treaty among the three powers.

Failure of Japan to give assurances she would adhere to the treaty she refused to sign, the notes said, would force the powers to invoke clauses permitting them to compete with any other nation.

RIGHT OF FREE SPEECH DEFENDED

Noted Liberal Speaks At Citizens' Forum

When factional quarrels or public battles over political and social questions threaten the right of free speech or criticism and suggestion, then it is time for the liberal mind to take sides and enter the fight, Dr. Fred M. Elliott, president of the American Unitarian association, told a forum audience at the Unitarian church last night.

The ideal attitude for the liberal mind, he said, is one of detachment—in which it can gather all the evidence available and maintain an open and unbiased point of view.

In the long run, he continued, the liberal is squeezed out in today's battles. Neither side of a public controversy wants an unbiased mind in its ranks.

Dr. Elliott, who last year was awarded the annual plaque given to the outstanding citizen of St. Paul, Minn., devoted the major portion of his address to a dissemination of the principles of liberal thought.

He was introduced by Ernest Caldecott, president of the Municipal League of Los Angeles. Caldecott discussed the current Los Angeles police scandal, and told the audience his league had been searching for evidence in the vice campaign for some time prior to the public inquiries that have filled the press recently.

Past Commanders In Charge of Dinner

Past commanders of the Santa Ana American Legion post, headed by Dr. John Wehrly, president, will be in charge of tomorrow night's post dinner meeting and program, slated for the American Legion hall.

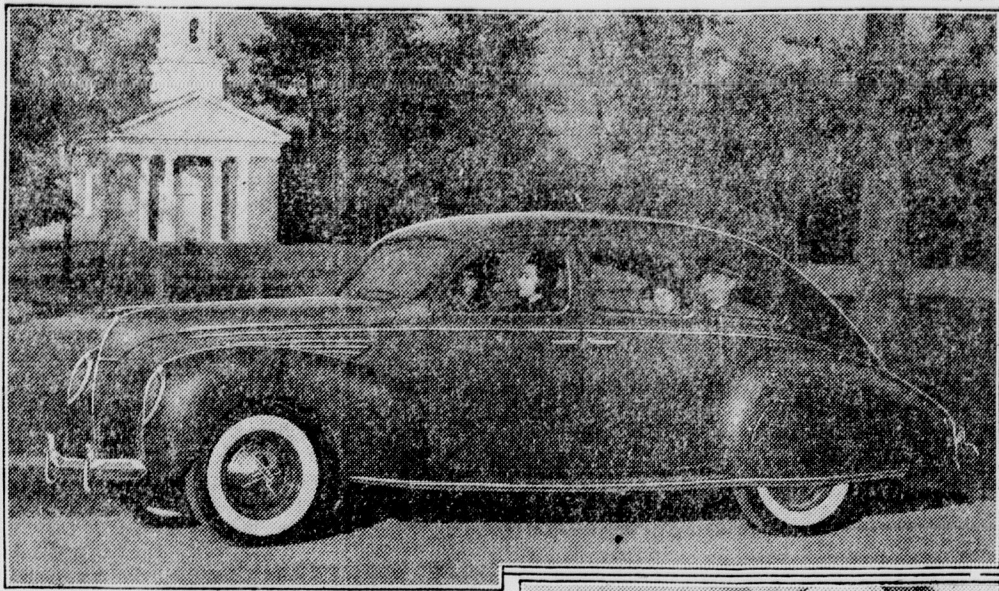

Dinner will be held at 6:30 p. m., followed by a half dozen acts of stellar vaudeville, Dr. Wehrly said. He urged post members to send in their reservations for the event immediately.

Two-Hour Parking Plan Approved

Some Santa Ana residents approve the two-hour parking restriction.

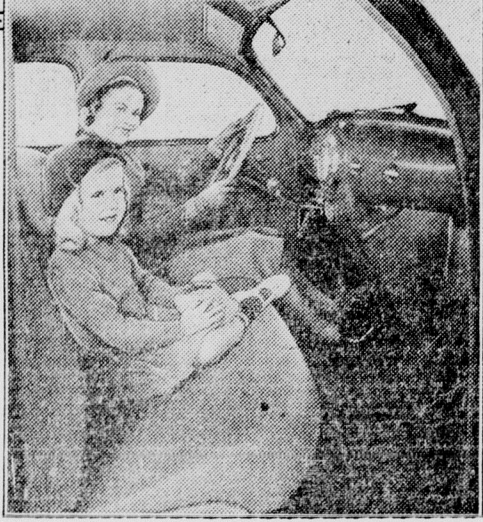

Mrs. Anna Johnson and Fred Johnson do. They asked city council to extend the two-hour parking limit to a location north of their residences in the 800 block on North Broadway.

Lincoln-Zephyr Pioneers New Styling

Riders Polish Saddles for Parade

Orange county rodeo and riding clubs will be polishing up their spurs, splicing bits and combing burrs out of their mounts' coats soon, in preparation for the 1938 Shrine convention in Los Angeles.

Reason: Stanton A. Bruner, past president of Al Malaikah temple, chairman of the parade committee, announced today that plans were under way for the presentation of California's finest horse and silver mounted saddles and bridles in a gigantic show, to be known as the Cavalcade of California.

Bruner announced the cavalcade would "relive the golden days of early California." It will be presented in the Coliseum, and is intended to combine the lure of a fiesta, rodeo and fandango.

Sheriff Eugene W. Biscailuz of Los Angeles county will head a committee in charge of building a romantic prologue around the California theme. Invitations will be extended this week to clubs and families owning such animals and equipment, many of whom are in Orange county.

The entire committee includes Cliff Riley as secretary, and Earl B. Gilmore, Elden J. Fairbanks, equestrian director of the Tournament of Roses; Charles M. Hackley, Floyd Burdick, Greg L. Duff, Leo H. Schiff, W. D. Longyear, and Captain L. L. Curtis of the Los Angeles police department.

Shell Official To Attend Banquet

Claude S. Brakebill, local manager for Shell Oil company, left today to attend the "Shell-oration" and banquet, in Los Angeles, celebrating Shell's 25 years in business. Brakebill will confer with executives regarding advertising and merchandising plans for 1938. He said Shell will use newspapers extensively this year.

Simone Simon Feeling Better

HOLLYWOOD. (AP)—Simone Simon, ill with bronchial pneumonia, was pronounced on the road to recovery today at Cedars of Lebanon hospital.

The French film star's condition became serious last week. She will be in the hospital for an indefinite period, attendants said.

About 10,000,000 pounds of shrimp are sun-dried in Louisiana every year.

SUSPECT RETURNED

Kenneth Budd, 30, Fresno, was returned to Orange county jail to face non-support charges yesterday. Arrested by Fresno authorities, he was brought back by Deputy Sheriff Bob Steinberger and arraigned before Justice of the Peace Charles Kuchel in Anaheim. His preliminary hearing was set for next Tuesday.

When the Breakfast club members assemble tomorrow morning at the Main cafe, Paul Sheffield, program chairman, will present under the auspices of the Putnam School of the Dance, several students who are well on their way to professional careers.

Lois Bell will offer a special number, Carolyn Wells will appear in a Spanish selection, and a soft shoe and rhythm buck and snappy tap is also one of the Sheffield offerings. The accompanist will be Miss Genevieve Vinson. Senior vice-president is arranging for the initiation of 15 candidates for this rapidly growing club.

NEW CRAWFORD FILM AT W. C.

Joan Crawford, who has romanced on the screen with Clark Gable, Robert Taylor, Robert Montgomery, Gary Cooper and other famous film heroes, adds rugged, two-fisted Spencer Tracy to her long list in "Mannequin," which opens today at the West Coast theater with the mystery film, "Arsene Lupin Returns."

Frank Borzage directed "Mannequin," a swift-moving story of modern young people against a background of New York's grimy tenements and multimillionaire's penthouses. Miss Crawford as Jessie Cassidy has the role of a shop girl who seeks escape from poverty by marrying Eddie Miller, a cheap crook, played by Alan Curtis. When Eddie fails her, Jessie decides to live her own life. John L. Hennessey, a role which gives Tracy a powerful characterization, refuses to let her.

"Arsene Lupin Returns" features Melvyn Douglas, Virginia Bruce and Warren William. It is hailed by critics as a crook mystery de luxe. There is never a dull moment in the amusing and exciting film, which brings to the screen for the first time the famous character created by Maurice LeBlanc, noted author.

Parking Fines Hit Record High Mark

Parking tickets hit a new record in Santa Ana police history yesterday, as Judge J. G. Mitchell collected $1 apiece for 31 of the tickets.

Six speeders pleaded guilty and were fined a total of $51, and one person was charged $50 for allegedly driving while his operator's license was suspended. He is Roberto Gutierrez, Los Angeles, and he arranged to pay the fine Feb. 18.

Speeding fines: George H. Hirsch, $10; Leonard O. Randall, Jr., Los Angeles, $10; A. R. Hamilton, Anaheim, $8; Antonio Martinez, Costa Mesa, $8; Pedro L. Castro, Santa Ana, $6; and John L. White, Santa Ana, $6.

William F. Wade, Orange, pleaded not guilty to a charge of drunk driving and his case was set for 10 a. m. Feb. 17. He waived a jury, and Judge Mitchell set bail at $200.

Letters Asked In $5200 Estate

Letters of administration in the $5200 estate of Reinert Torkelson of Fullerton, who died July 29, 1937, were asked today in a probate petition by Dwight W. Holcomb of Los Angeles, a son-in-law.

At the same time Mrs. Christiane Torkelson, the widow, asked termination of joint tenancy in two lots in Fullerton owned by the couple.

The notes, Holcomb alleged, are secured by mortgages on Kansas real estate. Mr. Torkelson left no will.

Santa Ana Girl Honored at Pomona

Miss Elizabeth Heil, Santa Ana student at Pomona college, has been chosen for a part in the college Jubilee Cantata to be presented next Sunday at 5 p. m., the college announced today.

Traffic Victim Asks Damages

A pedestrian struck by a car at Canille street and Orange avenue last Oct. 24 sued the alleged driver of the car today for $26,102.73 damages.

A complaint filed in superior court by Atty. O. A. Jacobs on behalf of Thomas C. Colburn, the pedestrian, asked damages from Robert B. Schilling, alleged to have struck Colburn as the latter walked across Orange avenue. Colburn sustained fractures of the right leg and elbow and elbow and cuts and bruises.

TERMINATION ASKED
H. A. Paige today asked superior court for a decree terminating the tenancy of his deceased wife, Bernice V. Paige, in two lots in Fullerton. Mrs. Paige died Oct. 1, 1936.

Kiwanis Doings Lauded by Official

Approximately 160 persons attended the Kiwanis meeting last night at which time local members were hosts to clubs in division four including organizations at Buena Park, Anaheim, Fullerton, La Habra, Whittier and Garden Grove. Principal speaker was Dr. Fred Ewing, governor of the California-Nevada district of Kiwanis clubs.

Maurice Enderle, president of the local club, was in charge of the meeting prior to turning the gavel over to Lt. Gov. Raymond Temple of Garden Grove. G. Willard Bassett, talented local singer, accompanied by Ruth Armstrong, sang several solos, and members of the Santa Ana Kiwanis club chorus, under the direction of Whitford Hall, appeared.

BRIGHT OUTLOOK

Governor Ewing's talk depicted a bright outlook for California and Nevada Kiwanis clubs during the ensuing year. In part it is as follows:

It is impossible to over-estimate the value that comes from continued service in building up not only the efficiency, but the morale of an organization like Kiwanis. And so we begin the new year with a feeling of security because we know that we have in the California-Nevada district a very large number of trained leaders to carry on the work this year.

BAKERSFIELD CONFAB

The program of leadership training during November and December has been very successful. I think no governor was ever more fortunate in having a better group of lieutenant governors than I have this year, and I want to express to them and to all Kiwanians in this district my very great appreciation, not only of their trained ability, but also of their wholehearted cooperation in everything we have done in getting started on the work of the new year.

Conference in Bakersfield Jan. 15. As the climax of the training course throughout the district we had our presidents' and secretaries' conference in Bakersfield Jan. 15.

EVENTS FOR 1938

As we outline the program for 1938, there are many outstanding features which should make this a year long to be remembered. In the first place, International President Trafford Taylor expects to visit our district during the early part of February, and we are all looking forward to this opportunity of meeting our international president.

And the second thing, of course, is that we are all looking forward to our international convention in San Francisco, which will be held June 26-30. This will furnish a rare opportunity for a very large number of Kiwanians to actually attend an international convention who have been denied that privilege during the past because the conventions have been so far away.

London and Birmingham are the only English cities which have a million inhabitants.

Victim of heart attack which followed closely a debt-lifting drive for his church, the Rev. Harold James Smith, 55, pastor of the Costa Mesa Community Methodist church, died suddenly at his home this morning.

The Rev. Mr. Smith officiated last night at mortgage-burning ceremonies, observing the end of a long drive in behalf of the church.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Lillian Jeffrey Smith; a daughter, Mrs. Mildred Mogridge, who is employed in the congressional library in Washington, D. C.; a son, Jeffrey Smith, instructor in the University of California at Berkeley, and three brothers, John, Garland and William Smith, all of Melbourne, Australia.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. Saturday in the Costa Mesa church with the Rev. James E. Dunning, district superintendent of the San Diego district and the Rev. Grow S. Brown of Costa Mesa, officiating. Arrangements are in charge of the Dixon chapel, Costa Mesa.

Joint Tenancy Asked on Lots

Termination of the joint tenancy of the late Mrs. Emma Miller in 20 lots in Fullerton, two lots in Brea and notes totaling $5600 was asked today in a superior court petition by her husband, Otto Miller.

Mrs. Miller died Jan. 26, the petition alleges, and left the property in joint tenancy. Miller asks a court decree giving him title to the land and notes.

TOWNSEND NEWS, VIEWS

By WALTER R. KOBB

The name of Dr. Francis E. Townsend made the black headlines of almost every newspaper in the nation this week. This time to tell of a 30-day jail sentence plus a $100 fine which the United States Court of Appeals denied to the doctor, a message from the contempt of the House of Representatives for having walked out of a hearing being conducted by the so-called Townsend congressional investigating committee.

The dispatch came from Washington and there came from Portland, Oregon, a message from the doctor, intimating that he might take an appeal of the case to the United States Supreme Court.

The first reaction to this news will naturally centralize among the followers of the Townsend leaders who will feel most keenly the injustice which they will consider is being done to the doctor. They will also consider it a slap at their movement, forgetting for the time being that the doctor for the Senate meted out should not be attached to the United States Court of Appeals which was under compulsion to render a verdict according to the evidence submitted.

Thinking people will agree that the Townsend founder's attitude toward the investigating committee was one of contempt but they are also of the opinion that the attitude of the Townsend committee as a whole was unbecomingly to representatives of the people. The trivial questions which were put to the doctor indicated a purpose to discredit him and his organization's purposes instead of finding out the merits of the Townsend plan. In fact the consensus of opinion has been that the doctor was justified in having contempt for the general way with which committee conducted its hearings.

ORANGE FIGHTS INDIGENT LAW

ORANGE.—Chamber of commerce directors yesterday went on record opposing a proposed federal law which would make the government responsible for all indigents in any state for two years, at the end of which indigents would become permanent charges of the state.

The directors opposed the measure on the ground that California would suffer through attraction of indigents to this state. The action of the Santa Monica Chamber of Commerce has also been approved, as that body also opposed the proposed bill.

Roy Edwards, Ray Stull and Secretary V. D. Johnson were appointed delegates to meetings of the Associated Chambers of Commerce.

Motor Transit officials will be contacted following a motion to that effect, and requested to keep the local office open continuously from 7 a. m. to 6 p. m. At present the force is insufficient to keep the office open all day, members said. The chamber also requested that the Motor Transit station be better lighted at night.

For the first time in years, he said, it was possible to use all of the 11 miles of cement sidewalks. Also at the chamber's request, all streets in Midway City were resurfaced last year, he said.

The chamber is now cooperating with the Huntington Beach and Westminster chambers in the matter of eliminating telephone calls in this district, and this matter is still pending, Kirkham reported.

CHAPTER 29
"A friend of yours is waiting to see you," Peachy said. "Pick yourself up and come on. You'll soon find out what we want."

"Where is my coat of naked in this dress?" Merrie shivered and hugged her bare shoulders. "The lady objects to feeling naked," Peachy sneered. "The lady who makes her living by being naked. I'll have to remember that when I have time to laugh."

"I want my coat," Merrie insisted. "You have no coat, so shut up. Peachy Low has a new fur coat." "You wouldn't dare," furiously. "Oh, wouldn't I? Let me tell you something, you hussy. Where you're going you won't need a coat."

COLD AND DAMP
"Where am I going?" In spite of herself Merrie's voice quavered. The place was menacing. Cold and damp. Wind howled. The small house shook as if held in a gigantic hand, gusts of rain splashed against the window.

Over it all was a deadly stillness as if they were out of the world, as if there was no life, a stillness that waited for death. Catching up the blanket, Merrie wrapped it around her bare arms and shoulders. "Where am I going?" she asked again. Peachy answered her question from between lips that scarcely moved. The whites of her eyes showed below the iris, the gold hoops swung frighteningly.

"Where you're going you'll need nothing but a shroud," she said, and added, as Merrie caught her breath, "Unless you behave yourself and do as you're told." "What's the matter in there? Bring her out, can't you? We've got to start for town."

"Go on," Peachy jerked her head toward the closed door, and Merrie, the blanket clutched about her, slowly turned the knob. Two men sprawled in uncomfortable chairs beside a stove. One of them was Curt Rawson.

WANTS TO LEAVE
"Curt," Merrie cried, running toward him and falling to her knees. "Oh, Curt—take me away. I'm frightened. Please."

She stopped. Curt, the polished gentleman, had not risen from his chair, he had not changed expression. "Sit down at the table," he said. "Why? What is it all about? Where am I?" The quick relief at seeing Curt and the equally quick reaction had taken her remaining courage. She wrung her hands, and the blanket fell to the floor. "What do you want of me?"

"Sit down at that table," he commanded gruffly. "I want you to write a few letters. I'll dictate and you write."

Weakly she dropped to a chair before the plain wooden table. It was littered with a number of things. Empty bottles, half smoked cigars, a dirty deck of cards, an empty tobacco can. In the lid of the can were pieces of string, corks, matches, several pins, bits of candle. A space in front of Merrie had been cleared. Stationery from the Franklin Manor lay before her, a bottle of ink and a pen.

"Write what I tell you," Curt directed.

"I won't—not till you give me some sort of an explanation," Merrie kept her hands folded tightly in her velvet lap.

"Write what I tell you," he thundered. "You've had your way, now it's my turn."

Merrie sat stubbornly quiet. Curt nodded to Slim and Peachy.

"Guess we'll have to turn on a little heat," Slim observed cheerfully. "We ain't got all day."

Catching Merrie's arms from behind, he pinned her fast against the back of her chair.

"Let me go—you—you—" With a quick movement, Merrie bent her head and buried her teeth in Slim's wrist.

He howled. "Damn wild cat," he yelled. He got a firmer grip just below her chin. In vain she kicked and struggled.

"Curt—help me—Curt—" Merrie's voice rose to a terrified shriek as Peachy's lighted cigar came so close to her shoulder that she felt the heat.

"Will you write the letters?" Curt said unemotionally.

"No—let me go, you beasts." The cigaret touched her soft flesh, and Merrie gritted her teeth. Peachy pressed harder, and Merrie screamed with agony.

"Better write the letter, you sap. How would you like this cigaret in your eye?" She withdrew it toward her she spoke casually to Curt. Prick, prick, went the pin. Gradually it edged closer to Jim's letter.

"You have a game, Curt," she said. "Perhaps am more than willing to play it with you. Why don't you ask me?"

He put his folded hands behind his head and thoughtfully stared at the ceiling. Prick, prick, went the pin just below Merrie's signature on Jim's letter.

"You're not planning to force me to marry you by any chance?" she inquired.

"Marry you?" His laugh was a scoff. "Why should I want to marry you?"

Under the caption "More Sweet Music," Santa Ana High school's all-Southern California fullback, Bill Musick, had his picture prominently displayed in a Los Angeles newspaper when he enrolled at U. S. C. this week.

Trojans see in the 192-pound Bill another fullback like his famous brother Jim, who hit the line hard for Troy and then became an immediate success in professional football with the Boston Redskins.

Musick was not the only prized catch to enroll at mid-term. Among the others were Bob Jones, Los Angeles Poly captain and end, brother of Quarterback Jimmy Jones of the Trojan varsity; Ernie Becker, 205-pound all-city tackle from Los Angeles High; Leo Cantor of Roosevelt, quarterback and brother of Izzy Cantor, U. C. L. A. varsity player; Max Green of Glendale Hoover High, all-Southern California prep halfback; Nate de Francisco, guard and captain of the Roosevelt eleven; and Martin Akeyson, 216-pound tackle from Long Beach Poly.

Ever see a battle royal in wrestling?

Five or six of the husky matadors have been thrown together in some eastern rings, but it's a novelty which New-Promoter Bud Levin says he will not introduce at the Orange County Athletic club. He also frowns on mud-wrestling, another novelty which he says can't last long.

Richard Nelson Foote is the name of the second-born to Coach Bill and Mrs. Foote.

What with four ex-Dons playing regularly, Quentin Matzen's Woolen Mills basketball club could be called the "junior college alumni." Tom Lacy, Harry Stanley, Leonard Lockhart and Bob Browning perform for the Weavers.

Jack Robinson from the Saints may become the No. 2 man on the U. S. C. varsity's golf team this year.

Handicap Eligibles Slated For Tuneup Run at Arcadia

LOS ANGELES. (P)—Two time-worn veterans of turf wars, and another coming off the shelf for the first time in more than two years, were slated to race at Santa Anita park today in a valiant bid to get in shape for the coming $100,000 Santa Anita handicap.

The two oldsters were A. A. Baroni's Top Row and Frank Carreault's aptly named Time Supply, while the other was Today, a sensation in 1935 but victim of a training injury that halted his racing career until the present race.

The trio, together with the Foxcatcher farm's Fairy Hill, Sweepshot from the Dixiana barns and Gosum, winner of the New Year's handicap here, was entered in the $1500 Sacramento handicap at a mile and one-eighth.

Overnight rains and a sloppy track made the entries uncertain, however.

FAUL, BENSON BOLSTER DON RUGBY SQUAD

Partially offsetting the loss of Russell (Rusty) Roquet and Les McLennan, who left for U. S. C. and Washington State college, respectively, this week, Carl Benson, guard on Bill Cook's 1938 grid squad, and Bob Faul, 1937 football tackle, have reported for Coach Ernest Butterworth's Santa Ana Junior college rugby squad, which meets Pasadena A. C. Friday night in the Municipal bowl.

Pete Kotler, hooker with Bill Tust in the scrum, sprained his ankle yesterday at the jayssee, and a replacement for him will be necessary. Benson, 200-pounder, may fill Roquet's post in the scrum, with Faul taking over another front-rank position.

Johnny Joseph has been shifted to a backfield post, where he'll probably take over McLennan's center three-quarter's job.

The Dons are undefeated, but twice tied. U. C. L. A.'s varsity was held 0-0, and Santa Barbara State college's fifteen was deadlocked, 3-3, in a brilliant game.

Steele's Kayo Over Turner Investigated

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (P)—Brig. Gen. John J. Phelan, chairman of the New York state athletic commission, promised today an investigation of Middleweight Champion Freddie Steele's first-round knockout of Bob Turner last night.

Steele downed the Newport News, Va., fighter four times in winning the battle in two minutes and 17 seconds of the first round. It had been scheduled as a 10-round heavyweight match. Steele weighed 158 and Turner 162, two pounds over the middleweight limit.

The champion put Turner on the floor three times before the knockout.

Phelan, who saw the bout, said he had ordered Turner's purse withheld and that the commission would start an immediate investigation.

A crowd of 2500 persons started booing when Turner hit the canvas the first time and kept up the din for almost 15 minutes, preventing the announcer from introducing the principals of the semi-finals, which followed the main event.

In his dressing room, Turner, who recently defeated Carmen Barth, said Steele's first right-hand punch dazed him.

Fullerton, Chaffey Decide Jaysee Basketball Lead

Fullerton's Hornets and Chaffey's Panthers will break their first-place deadlock at the top of the Eastern J. C. conference basketball standings at Ontario tonight. The tilt was postponed two weeks ago when both clubs performed in Los Angeles against U. C. L. A.'s freshmen.

Santa Ana's Dons are polishing their offense and defense for Thursday night's crucial with Pomona on Justin High school's court. With a victory, Coach Blanchard's team will remain in the running for a second or third place in the league.

Friday night in Los Angeles' Pan-Pacific auditorium the Dons tackle U. S. C.'s unbeaten frosh as a preliminary to the Stanford-U. S. C. varsity struggle.

Training for Kentucky Derby

North, South, East, West—Favorites Are Working

NEW YORK. (P)—Tiger or Fighting Fox, Menow or Nedayr? They're the early favorites for the Kentucky Derby.

But some colts, gelding or filly, whose 2-year-old performance was less impressive than those of the top quartet, may stick a nose out front in Louisville's May 7 classic.

They're all in winter quarters now, some galloping around indoor tracks, others romping along under southern suns, while still others are preparing for rich winter stakes. But all are rounding into shape, putting on weight and filling out.

A few will go to the post in February, while others will wait until the warmup stakes a few weeks before the Derby. You'll soon have opportunity to scan the future book lines, for they'll sprout shortly after the entries are announced, probably late in February.

IN CALIFORNIA

Mrs. Ethel V. Mars' Tiger is in training in California and may run in the $50,000 Santa Anita derby.

Tiger won six victories last season, including the Washington park futurity, and was second in Menow in the Belmont futurity.

Menow, the Hal Price Headley ace that broke a word record in winning the Belmont (1) galloping daily at Hialeah Park in Florida, is as Bourbon King. Headley entered Bourbon King in the $20,000 Flamingo stakes.

Fighting Fox, a full brother of Gallant Fox, has been shipped by Owner William Woodward to Aqueduct. He spread out during his vacation and no longer appears an awkward colt. Aqueduct trainers say his habits are just like those of Gallant Fox. He's been galloping four miles a day under the shed. The filly, Merry Lassie, also is at Aqueduct.

Myron Selznick's Can't Wait, Maxwell Howard's The Chief, Valinda Farm's Teddy's Comet, and Mrs. Mars' Mountain Ridge are at Santa Anita. The Chief, being trained by the former jockey, Earl Sande, was bought at C. V. Whitney's sale for $14,000. Dauber, another Whitney horse that brought upward of $20,000, is owned by William Dupont, Jr., and is conditioning at the Foxcatcher farm.

WARMUP RACES

Nedayr is on W. S. Kilmer's Virginia farm, Bold Turk is racing in Florida, Bull Lea is at Warren Wright's Calumet farm in Kentucky and Mrs. Payne Whitney's Redbreast is at Red Bank, N. J.

Some of these will do their preliminaries in the Chesapeake stakes, a mile and a sixteenth, at Havre de Grace two weeks before the Derby and others will start in either the Wood Memorial at Jamaica, N. Y., a week prior to the Derby, or the Blue Grass stakes at Keeneland, Ky.

Among the horses expected to be nominated for the Derby are 22 which won two or more stakes last year. Although some handicappers rank Menow and Tiger out front, J. H. Whitney's Innale, Paragon stable's Bold Turk and Bert Friend's Co-Sport led them in number of stake victories. This trio won four each.

Tendon Injury to Keep Brown Jade Out of Handicap

LOS ANGELES. (P)—Brown Jade, William Le Baron's eligible for the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap, was withdrawn today because of a recurring tendon injury.

The daughter of Alexander Pantegies and Miss Plunger will remain idle until later in the year, Trainer W. R. Kanatzer said.

A crowd of 2500 persons started booing when Turner hit the canvas the first time and kept up the din for almost 15 minutes, preventing the announcer from introducing the principals of the semi-finals, which followed the main event.

In his dressing room, Turner, who recently defeated Carmen Barth, said Steele's first right-hand punch dazed him.

Phelan, who saw the bout, said he had ordered Turner's purse withheld and that the commission would start an immediate investigation.

IRVINE CAGERS FACE PENHALL

Irvine's clash with Penhall's of Westminster in an attempt to remain on the undefeated side of the Y. M. C. A. basketball league takes the spotlight at 9 o'clock tonight on the "Y" court. Asa Herren, who set a scoring record of 34 points recently, will be Irvine's threat.

Barr Lumber company's hard-luck club tackles Montgomery Ward's quintet in the curtain-raiser at 7 o'clock and may furnish a mid upset. Treasures Products should have little difficulty in defeating Southern Counties Gas company's five at 8 o'clock.

He never has been a wise guy, and admits it frankly. He told yesterday how they framed him in Hollywood, putting on a fake gun fight between a couple of extras for his benefit. Lou admitted he tried to separate them before the gun started roaring.

"My face was white as a sheet when that gun went down," he said. They had Lou on a radio program while he was out there, too, and he made a lot of friends. The announcer referred to him as "the greatest player" and Gehrig quit, tiring the script, interrupted to say: "Babe Ruth was the greatest baseball player."

With the shower of publicity that surrounded DiMaggio last season, it probably will surprise some to know that Gehrig led the Yankees at bat with an average of .351. Also that, for the seventh year, he knocked in more than 150 runs, beating Ruth's record of six years.

For 12 straight years he has scored more than 100 runs, tying Ruth's record, and for eight years has collected more than 200 hits, leaving him only one year behind Ty Cobb's mark.

Sharpshooting Santa Anita

By FRANK FISKE

Well, the Phantom and Deep Sea Danny redeemed themselves nicely yesterday after a tough week during which the horses seemingly couldn't be induced to cooperate. Their selections ran in the money at nice prices in every race but the second and third; they called them one-two-three in the sixth and lifted Red Ensign out of the pickle barrel in the seventh.

Nevertheless, they were not too fancy today and warned me that, what with the mud coming up over night and a possible epidemic of scratching, we should proceed carefully in our investments. Here's what they suggest for mild action in the afternoon.

First . . . LOTTIE D. is a daughter of a mud-running daddy and though this is her first start there's a lot of significant gossip about her. GREY NURSE and OUTDUNE get mention on past performance.

Second . . . They won't miss with LYNBILLY today and the only other genuine mudlarks in the race are BON FLY and BON AMYE.

Third . . . Just another job for the fortune tellers but my guess is CAMELE—CHIEF YEOMAN—LUMILION.

Fourth . . . Strictly not an investment proposition but a good spot for a gambler with a lot of nerve and a careless attitude towards money. Tip on LITTLE NYPH last out was strong as a wild cat. She missed but they have a slightly better spot to shoot in today. She may not be quite good enough to beat GREY COUNT and MANDINGHAM but one will probably get you 15 if she is.

Fifth . . . Watch the cuckoos come out of the clock in this one! Mebbe CLOUD O'DUST—BON FUME—EXTRA SPECIAL will be first through the little door.

Sixth . . . Here's a chance to watch a mess of more or less promising candidates for the big "Cap in action and my suggestion would be to let it go at that. What with the mud and all SWEPPA-LOT appears to have the best chance with TIME SUPPLY in contention. TOP ROW would be a cinch if he could old-time form and return to ear-ear.

Seventh . . . Surprise! CALAVERAS is the ruling rumor and EARLY TIMES and WHA HAE both figure. Don't blame me if ST. STEPHENS gets enthusiastic, though.

Eighth . . . LAME DUCK is home from the comb. SUPREMACY and GRAY JACK.

Ninth . . . (substitute)—In case they run this one you can bet with a certain degree of confidence on VALINA though the price will probably be short. If you want better odds for your risk try DE-LINE BANK and SILVER PALM.

Corn in the crib . . . LYNBILLY and CALAVERAS.

Scraps from the meat seak . . . LITTLE NYPH and LAME DUCK.

CARDS' OFFER SAID TO BE ONLY $10,000

BRADENTON, Fla. (P)—Dizzy Dean broke his unaccustomed silence today to indicate that he was anxious to smoke the pipe of peace with officials of the St. Louis Cardinals—to the tune of a $20,000 contract.

That amount would represent a $5500 reduction from the salary the hurler said he received in 1937, and is just $10,000 more than the part of Harry Thomas' . . . Smoke-filled armories in which he does his stuff, do not bother Spec Towns, the Georgia track star . . . He was smoking a clay pipe at the age of six . . . Fritz Crisler of Princeton is rated one of the best orators among the football coaches.

Except for a telephone, two well-filled ash trays, a few pencil stubs and a scratch pad the only decoration on the big mahogany desk of Al Weil, matchmaker of the 20th Century Sporting club, is a 10-cent copy of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" which Al pores over when no one is looking. . . . Those reports that Chairman John J. Phelan of the New York state athletic commission is to be succeeded in two weeks by Deputy Commissioner Tom Farley are the bunk . . . The general's term has another year to go and he isn't about to resign.

Cam Henderson of Marshall college in West Virginia was the football coach who took out a 10,000 life insurance policy on "Jumping Jackie" Hunt, the Huntington High school sensation . . . P. S. Hunt enrolled at Marshall two days later after turning down offers from 15 other schools.

Pete Kane, the British middleweight, is a blacksmith and does all his training at the old forge, which, in all probability, is located under one of those well-known spreading chestnut trees . . . Tragedy: This line appeared in the baseball bulletin, "Released by Cleveland"—Hugh Alexander is the promising young outfielder who played a few games with the Tribe last fall and looked great . . . A few weeks after the season ended he lost his left hand in an industrial accident.

NEW YORK. (P)—Dr. Walter L. BUILD...REMODEL NOW!

MATERIAL AND CONSTRUCTION COSTS ARE LOW . .

FRENCH PROVINCIAL DESIGN GAINING NEW POPULARITY

Here is illustrated the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Warren E. Webb, located at 1401 Martha Lane, recently completed by General Contractor Nylan P. Hurd. Mr. Webb is assistant manager of Smart & Final company, wholesale grocers, with headquarters in Santa Ana. The exterior lines of the house follow the popular mode known as "French Provincial." An unusual and pleasing feature of the roof is the white tile outline along ridges and hips. The interior, with its plain white walls is in keeping and both beautiful and restful.

One of the first impressions is of spaciousness, which is attained by the careful planning of wall spaces, the windows being placed to give a maximum of wall space for easy arrangement of furniture; incidentally for almost unlimited rearrangement of furniture. Two of the three bedrooms have three different possible locations for the beds and other bedroom furniture.

Where is the woman who does not like to move her furniture about?

There is a minimum of hall space in the Webb house, yet maximum circulation is attained by giving access to one of the bathrooms and two of the bedrooms from the back porch. Space that would ordinarily be hall space is incorporated in the middle bedroom, adding to its roominess.

The kitchen is on the front of the house, with outlook to the street. This is in keeping with the newer ideas of room arrangement. The exposure of the kitchen is southwest which insures plenty of sunshine and air all through the day. In order that there shall not be too much sunshine, the kitchen windows, like those in the rest of the house, are equipped with Venetian blinds. The sink and ample drainboards, which are rubber-covered, are in that southwest corner beneath the windows.

More than ordinary space is provided for laundry facilities in the over-size back porch, a very good place to be liberal with space. It is possible, in this house, by giving guests the use of the east bedroom, and by closing off the central bedroom from the front hallway, to make a guest suite of the hall, bedroom and bath. The family could still have access to the two remaining bedrooms and the second bath by way of the back porch.

Between the two wardrobe-closets in the east bedroom is a clever dressing-table with triple mirror and down light, planned according to Mrs. Webb's own order. This house has almost twice the storage space ordinarily provided. It is, you will note, well distributed, so that different types of stored articles may be kept near their places of use.

An ample central heating plant provides heat for the cold days. The price of $5800.00 is not high, when the size and quality of this house are taken into account.

Indirect Lighting Novel Effect

Indirect lighting systems with concealed fixtures built into the walls and ceilings are utilized in modern home construction. Additional lighting effects shown in exhibit are attained by built-in, concealed sockets within the fireplace, book shelves and underneath floor panels.

New Housing Act Rousing Orange County Building Interest

The new amendment liberalizing the Federal Housing act will lease between a 100 and 150 million dollars in Southern California trade channels. Business men and civic leaders predict the immediate spending of at least 75 million in new construction under the terms of the new FHA act to care for the existing housing shortage.

Orange county should have one of the biggest building booms in the district as there is an acute shortage of small homes. The Balboa-Newport district should build rapidly as many will build small beach homes.

APPLICATION BEGUN
Hundreds of applications were being received by various branch banks, real estate men, builders and loaning agencies following the passage of the bill last week, and already banks began augmenting their staffs to facilitate handling of applications.

The Southern California district of the Federal Housing Administration is anticipating a record business to follow the passage of the new amendment. Under the original setup it was the most successful territory in the United States, having made more than one-seventh of the housing loans in the nation since 1934.

LOWER DOWN PAYMENT
One of the principal features of the revised FHA is the requirement of only 10 per cent down as against 20 per cent in the former.

A person building a home on a lot with a total investment of $5000 will be required to have only $500 for a down payment, or the equivalent in an equity in a residential lot. Before, upwards of $1000 was required.

A few of the highlights contained in the act in part follow:
TITLE 2—HOME BUILDING LOANS

MORTGAGE INSURANCE—Not less than 1/2 per cent per annum nor more than 1 per cent per annum, based on outstanding principal balance. This provision is to be fixed by the regulations.

INTEREST—Not to exceed 5 per cent per annum on unpaid balances. Administrator may raise to 6 per cent under unusual conditions.

TYPE B

PROPERTY—Property upon which is located a dwelling house designed principally for a single family residence, of which the borrower shall be the owner and occupant at the time of the incurrence.

MATURITY—Not to exceed 25 years.

MORTGAGE INSURANCE—If accepted prior to July 1, 1939 mortgage insurance premium is 1/4 per cent per annum, based on outstanding principal balance.

INTEREST—Not to exceed 5 per cent per annum on unpaid balance. Administrator may raise to 6 per cent under unusual conditions.

TYPE C

PROPERTY—Same general property requirements as those listed for Type B, with some exceptions. The distinguishing characteristic determining whether the loan is Class B or C is the amount of the loan, $5400 or less being Class B, and over $5400 being Class C.

AMOUNT—Not to exceed $8900 and not to exceed (a) 90 per cent

Springtime Means Busy Days

Orange county is showing signs of spring activity. There seems to be considerable hustle and bustle inside and out of many homes. Bathrooms and kitchens seem to be the inside remodeling centers while painting occupies the center of the outdoors stage.

Spring is an excellent time to put a new roof on your home, too. Present prices on roofing and, for that matter, all manner of building work, seem to be reasonable—probably lower than they will be for some time to come.

Owners of old fashioned or run-down homes will be glad to know that their local dealers have dozens of appealing remodeling plans. These plans, when properly executed, do absolutely amazing things to an old house; completely change its appearance at comparatively low cost.

Any building dealer offers to prospective builders and remodelers fair and convenient finance plans. These are particularly beneficial to the prospective builder. Modern financing calls for a reasonable down payment, and the payment of the balance in convenient monthly payments. Smaller bills may be paid monthly, too.

Lasting Roofs And Siding

The Orange County Improvement company, 602 North Main has a beautiful display of John Mansville siding and roofs built in their salesroom. You can see the different colors and the method of installation. This exhibit is well worth a visit so that you can secure all the information before you decide on a new roof or siding.

Mr. W. E. Dunn will be glad to figure your job and give you new plans if you desire them. There is just one thing to remember and that is—John Mansville has been in business long enough to know how to make this type of material. And if you want to protect your home for years to come, buy John Mansville materials and your worries are over.

So may we suggest, GO SEE THIS EXHIBIT. BEFORE YOU BUY.

NEW STORE PLANNED

Three buildings at the corner of Palm and Washington avenues, Balboa, are to be removed and a new $10,000 modern brick structure will be erected there to house a Safeway Store. A. G. Hottinger, of Pomona and Balboa, is the owner of the property.

of $6000 of the appraised value, and (b) 80 per cent of such value in excess of $6000 and not in excess of $10,000.

MATURITY—Not to exceed 20 years.

MORTGAGE INSURANCE—Not less than 1/2 per cent per annum, and not more than 1 per cent, based on outstanding principal balance.

INTEREST—Not to exceed 5 per cent per annum on unpaid balance. The administrator may raise to 6 per cent under unusual conditions.

TITLE 1

Modernization Loans

Act provides for revival of former Title 1, authorizing loans for modernization and repair. The section covers financing of alterations to urban, suburban or rural real property. Loans up to $2500 may be used for building of new structures. The revised Title 1 does not permit loans for installation of equipment, machinery, appliances or accessories.

Supervisors Act After Delay of Months

By FRANK ORR
Delayed for months while county officials worried about political turmoil, wheels were set in motion today for acquisition of $1,500,000 worth of land for the mammoth U. S. flood control project here.

C. H. Chapman, former supervisor appointed by his successors to a $15-a-day post as head of the flood control district's new land department, was given the go-ahead signal yesterday afternoon.

EXPERT APPROVED
At the same time, supervisors approved hiring of George L. Smuts, Los Angeles expert, at $50 a day as consultant when he is needed.

Chapman will begin immediately acquiring options on necessary property, and can pay up to $100 each for more valuable pieces of land which will be used in construction of dams or flooded when the dams are finished.

Chapman's department also will be equipped with two-four-door sedans for official use, to cost not more than $800, according to action the board took on motion of Supervisor Harry Riley.

5500 ACRES SOUGHT
Chapman appeared at yesterday's board meeting with B. Z. McKinney and Albert Launer, special flood control counsel, and M. N. Thompson, flood control engineer under whose supervision the former supervisor will work.

Local participation in the $15,000,000 flood control program consists principally of furnishing land and rights-of-way for army engineers to build dams on.

Options will enable the district to buy, at appraisers' prices already on file, up to 5500 acres of land needed for the project.

COLLEGE CAPERS

ROCK HILL, S. C.—Firemen answered an alarm from a dormitory at Winthrop college but found no fire.

A blushing and much-abashed young lady finally told them: "I pressed a little button on the wall because someone told me that was the way to get maid service."

Winthrop, a state college for women, offers no such luxury, however.

FROZEN ASSETS

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y.—When the coupons on $200,000 worth of New Rochelle bonds failed to clear through the banks in 1934, City Director of Finance Walter J. Brennan thought nothing of it.

But when they still had not been presented for payment after the Jan. 15 interest date this year, he became curious.

Through the original purchasers, he learned that the bonds were sold to a woman who "won't be inconvenienced" by going to her safe deposit box to clip coupons more than once every five years.

She is due around again in 1939 with $46,000 waiting for her.

KANSAS CITY.—Ernest Barr lost his job in Canton, Ohio, in December.

I Just Found Out

About Nurses

—By MILLARD BROWNE

"Hello, Nurses' bureau? Say, I'm sick . . . need a nurse. Can you send out a tall blonde one that's young and good-looking?" No exaggeration, such calls actually are received from time to time at the county nurses' registry, where some 80 "women in white" are on call day or night.

Nearly all private duty nurses in the county—and general duty ones at all hospitals except the county—are affiliated with the registry, which operates under the state nurses' association, is something of a cooperative employment bureau.

Though the "tall blondes" naturally are more in demand among men, feminine patients are just as particular about nurses as men are, and they often ask for specific types. One elderly lady recently demanded a middle-aged nurse, didn't want "one of those young flitty girls."

The county hospital operates its own training course, has its own corps of graduate nurses. Other nearby hospitals, however, do most of their hiring through the registry, cooperate with it when they need special nurses.

The registry is located at 2525 Santiago street, where Mrs. Alice Theil, bureau registrar, is on 24-hour call. Except for a small branch office at Fullerton general hospital, the local registry clears nearly all private nursing cases in the county.

It's strictly an emergency business, since nurses are on demand at all hours. They can sign up for call just during the morning shift (7 a. m. to 3 p. m.) or for the night shift (11 p. m. to 7 a. m.), thus aren't required to be handy at other times.

Nurses work an eight-hour schedule, have discouraged the practice of staying with a patient day and night, because they figure anyone who needs a nurse needs an alert one.

Eighty per cent of their work is done in hospitals, the rest being done in private homes where patients have lingering illnesses that need nursing but don't need elaborate hospital equipment.

What about the contention that most male patients will eventually propose to their nurse? It's an exaggeration, the nurses claim, but it's happened—quite often. Nurses marry the doctor, often, but the patient, however, "you'd be surprised what they'll tell you—particularly when they're under anesthetic," one nurse winked, slyly but non-committally.

Two male nurses are registered at the local bureau, are kept busy most of the time on surgical cases, often where an elderly patient is prejudiced against having a woman wait on him.

Orange county nurses are fairly typical of the profession generally. About 50 per cent are married, and nearly half are young enough to have been graduated from nursing schools within the past 10 years.

Rivalry is keen among nurses, though not so much so here as in other places. That's because doctors and hospitals all cooperate with the registry, spread the work out among the private nurses.

Many of the calls at the bureau are for specific nurses, since both patients and doctors often have preferences. A few nurses have their own clientele, almost always are busy taking care of a few families they know from past cases.

Nurses like surgical cases best, since patients are less likely to be grouchy or affected mentally by operations or accidents. Illnesses frequently are accompanied by moodiness, make the nurse's job tougher. Hypochondriacs, or people who just think they're sick, are as hard for nurses to handle as any.

All the "women in white" at the local bureau are graduate nurses, must be registered in California and must be members of the state nurses' association. California restrictions are stiffer than in most states, and applicants for work here who have state board certificates are categorically turned down. Applications are checked through the county association, by Mrs. Mabel Grouard, secretary.

Majority of the nurses sign up for private duty any place, any time. A few "sign against" certain kinds of cases, usually contagion cases. It's not because they're afraid of getting the disease, but more often because they don't have the additional training or experience that makes them qualified for contagious diseases. Some who

RILEY DOZES AND WAKES UPSIDE DOWN

Maybe the discussion, which was something about flood control, got too heavy for Supervisor Harry Riley. Perhaps he dozed just a little.

But he woke up in a hurry yesterday afternoon. "Upside down," the ponderous Riley leaned too far back in his supervisorial chair. There was a crash, a painful silence while supervisors and spectators wondered what had happened to Harry.

Then Riley emitted a muffled guffaw, echoed by the audience, and untangled himself, chuckling something about "I'm building up to an awful let-down."

CECILIAN SINGERS WIN ORANGE 'HAND'

Halstead McCormack last night held the baton over his 40-voice Cecilian Singers to the delight and applause of music lovers that flocked to Union High school's auditorium.

The concert was unanimously acclaimed a success. Guest artist Louis Silva, Portuguese tenor, known throughout the Southland for his fine renditions at the Greek theater in Griffith park, gave the Cecilians a performance that will be long remembered by his Orange admirers and the many who journeyed from Santa Ana to be present.

Care "Selva" from Handel's "Spirate Fur, Spirite," by S. Donaudy; "Hear Me, Ye Winds and Waves," from Handel's Scipio, and Julian Huarte's "Madrigal Espanol," in his first group.

His second group included "The Wandering Jew," K. Moss's arrangement of the old Cornish "Floral Dance," Oscar Fox's "Bons of Home" and "The Vagabond Song," from the opera, "The Vagabond King."

Choral groups in which the 40 Cecilian voices participated included:

"The Spirit of Music," Percy Stephens; "Was a Walking," George Oldroyd; "Be to God on High," Tschakowsky; "Elves of the Forest," from Mozart's Die Zauberflote; Schubert's "An Die Musik," Johann Sebastian Bach's "Bourree," Frank Elgar's "The Snow," Frank Bridge's "Peter Piper," Teresa Del Rio's "Homing," Curran Del's arrangement of "The Two Magicians," Charles Gilbert Spross; "Let All My Life Be Music," and the Irish folksong, "The Minstrel Boy."

A Stranger Drops in to Relate His Impressions on First Visit to City

(Editor's note: A stranger dropped into The Journal office yesterday and volunteered his impressions. We couldn't help but pass them on to our readers.)

By THE STRANGER

Driving into Santa Ana from the cold-invested country lying in the direction of points east is very much like being impregnated with the sensation we are supposed to get when we arrive at the door of St. Peter's and the good fellow says:

"Welcome, Stranger."

Now, no one welcomed the Stranger in anything like that personal tone of voice but, although the words are not shouted from the house-tops of Santa Ana, one feels that they are buzzing around one's ears as he motors down Main street and gets his first

It's Beans in Boston But Fish on the Beaches

Mrs. "Bob" Wright has this umbrella Shaded stand.

It's beans in Boston, alphabet soup in Washington, and tamales in Texas, but in Newport-Balboa, it's smoked fish.

And like most good things, there is more than flavor to this humped product of a half dozen old harbor families. Although it isn't generally known, those who don't like cold-dried oil can take their vitamins on the fin, so to speak, in smoked fish.

Signe and Sigval Schmidt-Nielsen, Norwegian scientists, tried it out on white rats and guinea pigs, way back in 1929, and reported an amount of vitamins A and D so large as to render it useful for children and others who cannot stand the oil. They went so far as to suggest the substitution of smoked fish for meat in one meal a day.

The theory seems to be that the smoking, a slow process at a comparatively low temperature, seals in the juices and drives out the water, leaving the fish rich in the essential oils.

FISH TID BITS
Nobody has said much about it, inasmuch as the business exists without benefit of advertising, but some day the men and women who keep the home fires smoldering around Newport-Balboa are going to declare a New Deal, and their tasty piscatorial tid-bits will be a luxury instead of a tasty novelty.

Big business hasn't got a finger in the fish—yet. One of the reasons is that the fish have to be smoked fresh to be good. The ice-box system doesn't work. The proper way to keep them in a cool, dry place where the air can get around. Then they are good for a week. On ice, they get soft and will grow mold in a couple days.

Another reason why the business is still a home industry is the hours the fish keep. Some one has to nurse the fire and there's no time off. If the fire blazes up, there's a batch of cooked fish gone wrong; if it runs too hot—there are black, dried-up edges; if it's too low the smoke doesn't "strike" through and when the fish is squeezed water will ooze out of it. It takes hours, twelve, fifteen, sometimes eighteen, before the job is done.

SECRET FORMULAS

And there are all sorts of secret formulas. Try to find out how strong to make the salt brine the fish are pickled in before they go into the smokehouse. There's a trick to hanging them over the fire. Sometimes when the weather is wrong they will drop off the hooks right and left. Some kinds, like swordfish, are smoked on screens.

The smoke that comes out of a bottle doesn't do the work on fish, although it is no news that there's a lot of meat "smoked" with a formaldehyde solution. Around

Permit to Reclaim Lands Sought

Permission to begin proceedings for reclamation of 35 acres of land belonging to the Erolinda Cota de Yorba estate in Los Angeles county near an oil-producing area was asked in a superior court petition.

Petitioners are Martina Y. Pelanconi and Bernardo M. Yorba, executors of the estate. Philip H. Richards and Harry J. McClean, Los Angeles attorneys, will reclaim the tax-delinquent land for a half share, the petitioners said.

REWARD WORTH IT
A good smoked fish must start his gustatory career at the end of a hook and line, not in a net, for he's liable to get stepped on, bruised or busted, in the crowd that a net brings in. The scars of battle are all right in their place but not on a smoked fish.

But the reward is worth the effort. There's nothing that pleases the tongue better. Many prefer the mackerel, which is the cheapest. The bonito tastes like turkey and slices off in thin, dry slivers that would be hard to recognize as fish. The swordfish, highest priced, has a flavor all its own. And they all carry a bonus of vitamin on the fin.

PERMITS ISSUED AT CITY HALL

Building permits issued from the city hall the past three days for erection of five residences represented $20,000 worth of proposed construction activity in Santa Ana.

Largest of these went to Julian Heim for a duplex and garage at 2305-07 Bush street valued at $5300. The residence will contain eight rooms.

Others are as follows: Lynn Scott, $4000 building at 1305 S. Broadway; W. C. Elks, last night took charge of the first February meeting last night in Elks hall, with Gilbert P. Campbell, chairman of the Past Exalted Rulers, presiding with other P. E. R.'s.

Joe Burke, assisted by Past Exalted Rulers W. C. Jerome, Horace Head, Parke S. Roper, V. A. Rossister, Fred A. Ross and Frank West will open and close the meeting with the regular officers looking on from the sidelines.

Past Exalted Ruler Jerome who arranged the entertainment following the meeting got together a good vaudeville program.

47,000 MAKE HOMES IN SANTA ANA

By GEORGE COVERDALE

Forty-seven thousand people make their homes in Santa Ana! This figure was set forth today as a population estimate by Fred Merker, president of the Chamber of Commerce. Merker, who also is local manager of the Southern Counties Gas company, bases his conclusion on an inventory taken Feb. 1 of gas meters installed locally.

There are 10,925 of these measuring devices used in Santa Ana and the immediate surrounding territory, he points out. By applying an accepted factor of 4.3 people per meter, Merker arrives at the aforementioned figure.

GAS METERS OKEYED

"Statisticians agree," Merker relates, "that active gas meter installations, particularly in Southern California, are among the most accurate indices of population, because gas is used practically universally in this section of the United States for domestic and commercial purposes."

It was recalled that one of the many public services to which the federal government lent its unemphatic support was the "clocking" of traffic in the larger centers at the busiest intersections.

SIMPLIFIED METHOD

This procedure did not tabulate population but it did give a pretty accurate figure on the number of motor vehicles that passed a certain intersection during a day and any given time.

Merker has resorted to a more simplified method, he believes, in letting the gas meters do the work that would require many census takers and he believes he has arrived at a pretty accurate total of Santa Ana's population.

FROZEN FRUIT CASE SETTLED

Another long-pending "frozen fruit" case developing from last year's freeze was wiped off the books yesterday as the Anaheim Citrus association was given a suspension of a $50 fine.

Justice Charles Kuechel suspended the fine yesterday afternoon on the association's plea of guilty to charges some of its employees permitted frost-damaged fruit to be shipped last summer, in violation of the state agricultural code. Charges against the employees, one dismissed after the complaint was filed, were dismissed on motion of Dist. Atty. W. F. Menton.

COLONIAL DAYS RECALLED AT D.A.R. MEETING

To accommodate guests and the business women who are members of the Daughters of the American Revolution, the special patriotic meeting held yearly during the month of February was presented Monday evening in the home of Miss Effie Douglas, 626 North Broadway.

Especially lovely decorations had been arranged for the meeting, with spring flowers throughout the rooms. Each guest was greeted at the door by little Miss Martha Ann Moring, who presented each with a corsage bouquet of spring flowers. Miss Pearl Nicholson, as a very dignified George Washington, also greeted guests at the door.

About 35 members and guests were present for the program, which began with a business meeting conducted by Mrs. Cotton Mather, regent. Mrs. F. E. Earel was elected a delegate and Mrs. I. R. Hendrie alternate to the state conference to be held March 9, 10, and 11 in the Biltmore hotel, Los Angeles. Mrs. Mather, by motion of her office, will be an official delegate.

James Anderson, chairman of Americanism in the local American Legion post, presented an interesting address on "Patriotism." Other numbers on the program, introduced by Mrs. I. R. Hendrie, program chairman, were instrumental selections played by Reginald Costella, Roy Hanson, Eugene Smith and Donald Olson, from the Julian Matthews studios. Vocal solos were sung by Miss Lucille Cowan, accompanied by Miss Chapman on an old and unique melodeon.

Mrs. E. A. Baird and Mrs. L. E. Martin were admitted to membership in the society, and Mrs. E. A. Baird was elected a member. Mrs. R. B. Lowrey of Midway City, Miss Mildred Cowan, J. H. T-I-D-B-I-T-S...

By DR. MARY E. WRIGHT

One unconsciously selects favorites from the photographic exhibit in the library. The "Grand Canyon" picture by Kirby Kean holds one with its grandeur. A fine reproduction of "Cacti" is most unusual by Tillery. Two very human, appealing photos are "Sunday Morning" with the resting newsboy reading the funnies, and another untitled, which could be called "Mary and Her Little Lamb," by Maddock.

Saw J. H. Vernig having luncheon with young son Jerry, Jr., and they were real chums. The boy chatted away and his father listened, with ready answers. Mr. and Mrs. Vernig came from Colorado and built a lovely new home on Valencia street. Although Jerry is but five and a half years old, he plays the violin and tap dances, and has appeared in two recitals. He is a courteous, friendly little lad.

One of the loveliest garden things I've seen lately is the big Japonica bush in Mrs. George Briggs' yard, and it is a blaze of scarlet blossoms. When Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Harris came to Santa Ana to make their home, they brought with them in their car three very unusual pets. "Tarzan" is a 22-inch alligator from Tampa, Fla., and "Moony" and "Sonny" are two geographic turtles, so called because of a well-defined mark on their shells. The turtles are about three inches in diameter, and may live to be a century old. All of these pets have the freedom of the house, with a pool indoors if they want water. The Harris have had them for eight years, and have them well trained. "Tarzan" will rise on hind feet and tail, to beg like a dog for fresh minnows or meat, with which they are all fed.

In a group of ladies I saw lately was Mrs. Charles Nussbaumer, stately and beautiful all in black. Also Arvilla Ball Witmer, petite and the image of her brother, Dr. John Ragan and W. E. Clements occupied the same room in the Coalinga hospital after they were badly burned in an explosion. Both being Orange men, their families and friends joined to cheer them. Since both had lost their hair, they shrank from having people see their denuded heads. Some joker took two toupees to them, and a camera to take their pictures all dressed up.

That nice young couple, the Paul Ragans, luncheon together, is a common sight downtown, and they always seem so like pals. The other day, Mrs. Ragan was particularly charming in grey dress and hat, with a box coat checked with blue and grey, lovely with her brunette coloring.

BRIDAL SHOWER HONORS LUCILLE STOKER

Miss Lucille Stoker, who is to be married to John Birt on March 6, was honored at a lovely pre-nuptial shower given at the home of Mrs. F. E. Philbrook, 1302 West Eighth street, yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Armand Faccou, daughter of Mrs. Philbrook, was co-hostess.

White stock and calla lilies were used as floral centerpieces on three tables while the bridge table was decorated with white sweet peas. Tall white candles and silver balls were also used as table decorations with a cluster of white paper bells hung from the chandelier over Miss Stoker's table.

The bride-to-be received a number of lovely gifts at the miscellaneous shower. She wore a corsage of white gardenias sent her by Mr. Birt for the occasion. Refreshments were enjoyed at the prettily-decorated tables in the candlelight. A fire burning in the fireplace gave a cheery atmosphere to the house while the rain pattered down outside.

Following the refreshments games were played with prizes going to Miss Jean McKamy, first; Mrs. Herbert Birt, second, and Miss LeFay Morris, consolation.

Guests included Mrs. B. K. Stoker, mother of the honoree; Mrs. Herbert Birt, mother of the groom-to-be; the Mesdames Gerall Lowell, Oscar Kito, Russell Steinmetz and the Misses Adele Pyatt, Maxine Struck, Lafay Morris, Emma Fowler, Irene Wyckoff, Jean McKamy, Genevieve Campbell, Frances and Charlotte Philbrook, daughters of Mrs. Philbrook and Miss Carolyn Hillis of Santa Monica.

Miss Struck Feted With Shower

First of a series of charming pre-nuptial parties to honor Miss Maxine Struck, who will become the bride of Raymond Birt of Tustin during the latter part of March, was given last night by three Orange matrons, entertaining in the home of Mrs. Oscar Gunther, in Orange.

A valentine motif was employed throughout the decorations, with tiny red nutcups as favors. Refreshments tables were covered with appropriate cloths and centered with dainty bouquets of white sweet peas and hyanthins. The evening was spent in playing bingo, with high prize being won by the honor guest, and low prize by Mrs. Olga Cameron of Olive. Many lovely miscellaneous gifts were piled on the table before the honored guest at the close of the evening.

Guests who gathered to compliment the bride-elect were Mrs. Emma Meyer, Mrs. May Struck, Mrs. Clara Struck, Mrs. Emma Kuechel, Mrs. Walter Krage, Mrs. Edna Holgrase, Mrs. Paul Struck, Mrs. William Schluter, Mrs. Albert Mansenkaamp, Mrs. Edith Sommel, Mrs. Walter Born, Mrs. Olga Cameron, Mrs. Edna Schmidt, Mrs. Winston Roby, Mrs. Fred Kianer, Mrs. Oscar Gunther, Mrs. F. E. Struck, Mrs. Max Struck, Mrs. Walter Wurster, and Mrs. O. R. Lane.

TWO CLUBS HONOR RUSHEES AT PARTIES

The opening of the second semester rushing season was seen this week, when both Beta Phi Delta and W. T. Tama Pi, girls' service clubs at Santa Ana High school, entertained their prospective new members at pretty parties.

Members of Beta Phi Delta chose to entertain their rushees with a tea in the home of Miss Betty Lake, 705 South Broadway, on Sunday afternoon. Guests played informal games throughout the afternoon, then were served tea from a prettily appointed table.

Rushees included Lillian Breaux, Carol Brinkerhoff, Jean Conliffe, Mary Friend, Kathryn Hambricht, Jeanne Hoffman, Grace Holmes, Nancy Morris, Barney Smith, June Tway and Caroline Wells.

Miss Vivian Hazen and Miss Jacquelin Bradford united to hostess rushees of W. T. Tama Pi in the home of the former at 409 East Myrtle street. Entertainment during the evening was a game of cootie, with the first prize being awarded to Iris Crawford. The two hostesses served hot chocolate and cookies to their guests.

Included in the group of guests were Lila Adrian, Phyllis Bemis, Emmy Lou Brooks, Kathrine Hambricht, Fern Hendriks, Juanita Hovenden, Jean May, Barney Smith and Shirley Woven.

Members of the Pegasus club will meet with Mrs. Charles Brisco, 421 East Bishop street, at 1:30 p. m. next Thursday, Feb. 15.

Reception Is Courtesy To Soloist

Formal winter gowns mingled with black and white tuxedos last night to make a charming scene when members of the Cecilia Singers entertained with an informal reception to compliment their soloist, Louis Silva of Los Angeles.

The pretty party followed the annual concert of the Singers in Orange Union High school auditorium, which was well received by a large audience. The home of Miss Elizabeth Morgan, 603 East Seventeenth street, was setting for the affair.

Miss Morgan was in royal blue satin with a peach flower for her hostessing duties. She was assisted by Mrs. Margaret Kenyon in black lace with camellias, Mrs. Pearl Davidson in blue georgette, and Mrs. Stebbins, all co-hostesses.

Presiding at the tea and coffee urns for the reception were Mrs. Davidson and Mrs. Frankie King in cloth of gold gown with metallic jacket. The tea table was centered with a quaint old-fashioned bouquet arranged in a round pottery bowl on a shiny mirror. White sweet peas and delicate white hyanthins made up the bouquet.

Throughout the rest of the house spring flowers were used in decorating. Vases of flowering peach and bowls of blue delphinium and pink sweet peas made a pretty background for the affair.

About 60 guests called at the Morgan home to greet Mr. Silva, and his charming accompanist, Miss Henning, also of Los Angeles, who was gownied in white crepe banded with green. She wore a corsage of sweet peas.

During the evening an impromptu musical program was featured by added selections by Mr. Silva, who was accompanied this time by Halstead McCormac. Miss Elizabeth Morgan was accompanied by Mrs. Esther Vogt Gordon in several selections, and Miss Laura Joiner accompanied herself in a comic song.

Assisting the hostesses during the reception were Mrs. W. J. Morgan and Mrs. Lucy O'Connor of Los Angeles, mother and sister of the Miss Elizabeth Morgan.

DORCAS CLUB HEARS PROGRAM ON SERVICE

An interesting program, followed by a social hour and refreshments was enjoyed by members of the Dorcas club of the First Christian church when they met Monday night in the educational building of the church.

Six little girls, Patsy Williams, Shirley Adams, Frances Frakey, Patty Lou White, Sharon Spencer, and LeVonne Kiser, all members of the primary department sang "Give, Said the Little Stream." Wanda Fay Parsons accompanied them.

Mrs. Cecil M. Aker of the Spurgers Methodist church, Frakey, spoke to the society on "Service," and the business session followed the same motif, when reports of service for the past month were given. Mrs. Essie A. Lee was a special guest.

At the close of the evening, guests gathered about an old-fashioned Valentine box for a social hour. Appropriate refreshments were served by the committee, including Mrs. G. W. Rimmel, Mrs. F. E. White, Mrs. G. Willard Bassett, Mrs. H. L. Holman, Mrs. R. Weisgerber, Mrs. R. Adkinson, and Mrs. C. T. Calhoun.

NEWLYWEDS SURPRISED BY FRIENDS

Mr. and Mrs. Lester H. Schmeltzer, young Santa Ana newlyweds, who reside at 1007 Freeman street received a surprise visit from a group of young married friends from Anaheim and Fullerton Monday night.

The guests serenaded the house and its occupants before entering by banging on tin pans and using noise-makers. A lovely electric clock for the mantelpiece was presented the honored couple.

Mrs. Schmeltzer, although completely surprised by the visit served refreshments and coffee and cookies in the home of the new couple, which was brightly lit by a fire in the fireplace.

The unexpected but welcome guests of the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Banesberger, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Burdorf, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Winger, Mr. and Mrs. R. Elser, Mr. and Mrs. William Trostman, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cordes and Mr. and Mrs. August L. Elliste.

GRAYS HONOR FRIENDS AT SUPPER PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Gray were host and hostess in their home, 415 East Main street, Tustin, on Monday evening, entertaining their guests at an informal buffet supper.

Mrs. Gray had used lovely arrangements of spring flowers as decorations throughout the home. The evening hours were spent playing a new game brought from Chicago, where it is fast becoming a vogue, by Mr. and Mrs. William Childs.

Guests at the pleasant affair were Dr. and Mrs. Wilfred Blair and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kirk of Long Beach, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lindley of Huntington Beach, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Cox and Mr. and Mrs. William Childs of Tustin, with the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Gray.

Mary Stoddard

Young Man Wants Wife, Home, Family, But Finds Condition of Country Hinders

A normal young man of 27 wrote recently that he finds himself stalemated. He would like a home, wife and children of his own. He finds no trouble meeting likeable girls, but he lacks anything in the way of security and the little luxuries a woman naturally desires. "What will be the future of this nation?" he asks, "if people like myself, who earnestly desire a place in the scheme of things, are denied this opportunity?"

In the morning mail is a letter from another young man on this all-important subject of matrimony to the bachelor of small means. He doesn't answer the other young man, but he has his own ideas on the problem. Dear Miss Stoddard: I have followed your columns for a long time and like the frank way important problems of the day are discussed.

Now, as an average young man, being unfortunate enough to reach manhood during these distressing times, I would like to put forth some of my ideas on marriage. Most people will realize that any degree of financial independence is practically impossible for the average young man to attain under our present economic system. Yet, on the other hand, to have a wife and a home should be the privilege of any man, even though he is just an ordinary laborer. The girl I should want to marry would have to have a common understanding with me about certain things, which are strictly modern, yet, objected to by many girls.

First, I object to children until such a time that financial conditions would assure them a decent birth and upbringing. From childhood I've seen a lot of poverty and to me, nothing is so disgusting as ragged and undernourished children raised in sordid homes. I consider children raised under such conditions no sacrifice, but ignorance which causes hardships for both children and parents.

Second, I consider it the duty of the girl I marry to work and help support our home, for this would be to our mutual benefit. So many men are against the idea of a woman working out, claiming that the woman's place is in the home. I maintain that the first duty of both man and wife is to establish a home and obtain a few necessary conveniences which make life much more pleasant. Isn't marriage partnership?

I see nothing wrong in a woman's holding down a job and contributing her wages toward this end. After all, marriage is a partnership, the joys and sacrifices to be earned and shared by both. Some people would no doubt term such an arrangement as a business partnership instead of marriage, but the girl I marry would have to be in perfect harmony with this arrangement because I maintain that financial stability is essential for happiness.

I am speaking, of course, of average young people, for a man with a good position, or a business or his own would not need a wife's assistance.

The cooking and other work around the home should likewise be shared equally and neither man nor wife should spend their money individually, but strive for a common purpose and even share their amusements.

Perhaps I will remain a bachelor or maybe I expect too much of a woman, but I am certain that there are young women with ambition beyond moping around the house all day wondering what to have for dinner.

I would like the opinions of your readers, especially the girls who hope to marry, on this subject. Sincerely, MR. TWENTY-FIVE.

We feel certain, Mr. Twenty-Five, that you are going to get some opinions. They may not be just the sort you might expect, because I am quite sure many parents are getting along on a slim allowance and will be willing to tell you how they do it. Bring up a family of children who are not ragged or undernourished. At any rate, we shall see what we shall see.

James McNeill Whistler was born in the United States but spent most of his life in Europe.

Others in the party included Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Goodwin and Dr. and Mrs. D. W. Goodwin of Orange county, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Roberts and daughter Janet of Brea, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Brisbane, visitors from McKeessport, Ill., and Russell Roberts of Los Angeles.

Past patrons honored were the Mesdames Martha Medlock, Mae Thomas, Fannie Reeves, Jean Bohlander, Grace Wilson, Genevieve Lacey, Teiseau Whitson, Ella Strassburger, Ida Dunphy, Lella Jones, Carrie Temple, Lulu Drake, Adelaide Safley, Marie Beisel, Jennie Peck, Henrietta Bohling, Kate Ross, Marian Wallace, Dora Pease, Lois Osterman, Maude Halladay, Mabel Rowland, Jean Trushpool, Laura McCormac, Irene Mitchell, Grace Finn, Cora Rugg, Minnie Adkinson, Kate Barker, Frances Brooks, Elizabeth Lewis, Ada Henry, Bessie Moore, Jeanette Tarpley, Maude Winbigger, Amber Burke, Minnie Holman, Ella Cobb, Jeanette Terwilliger, Martha Whitson, Mollie Kurch and Maude Watson.

Past patrons honored were Arthur Pease, W. D. Finn, John Mitchell, Ed Moore, John McCormac, Dr. John Wehrly, James Tarpley, Roy Shaffer, Bert West, Harold Nelson, W. D. Finn, Adkinson and W. D. McConnell.

Visiting officers from other communities included worthy Matron Sue Henry of the Santa Ana chapter; Florence Farnum and Bill Equitz, worthy matron and patron of Norwalk; Day Carr and C. H. Equitz, worthy matron and patron of Kingman, Ariz.; C. H. Carr, of Harvey, N. D.; Effie D. Carr, past grand matron of Kingman, Ariz. A special guest was Helen Aubin, mother matron of the Santa Ana chapter.

The reception committee who received and tagged all the past matrons and patrons with heart-shaped name tags were Fred Pope, worthy patron and Mrs. Pope; Dr. James Workman, associate patron, and Mrs. Workman; Clara Seaver, associate matron, and Margaret Cave.

A varied and interesting program followed the initial ceremonies. Pearl Livesey sang a solo "In the Garden of Tomorrow," accompanied at the piano by Mayme Havens. Then came a skit given by the Damascus White Shrine lady minstrels under the direction of Judson Sutherland. Janet Martin was pianist; Florence Wright, mistress of ceremonies; Rena Bouchard, soloist, sang "The Sunshine of Your Smile," Emma Henry whistled two selections, "Danny Boy" and "Dixie." Miss Velma Stroud gave a song and dance routine.

Following the program the guests retired to the banquet room to enjoy refreshments at gorgeously decorated tables which were the work of Helen Lurker, worthy matron; Dolly Pope, and Clara Seaver.

The table for the past worthy matrons and patrons was beautifully decorated with a huge pink heart in the center of the table arising from a bed of fern with the word "Hermosa" stippled in golden crystals. Two smaller companion hearts were at each end of the table. The table was decorated with ornamental green fencing made of felt covered cork hangers which were later given to the honored guests by the worthy matron. These were decorated with pink felt roses and green leaves.

CENTENARIAN TRIO

The three Bailey brothers of England, James, Humphrey and Samuel, lived to the total ages of 300 years, according to the inscription on the grave of James Bailey at Ledbury, Hereford, who was the last of the trio to die. He was 100 years and eight months old.

NEST OF WIRE

A female New Zealand magpie, which may have been inspired by modern architecture, constructed a nest mainly from pieces of wire stolen from a nearby workshop. The nest is a masterpiece of intricate wire weaving and some of the wires used by this enterprising bird were more than an eighth of an inch in diameter.

was exhausted at the show, she flew to the coils hanging on the wall and tore her bird nest building material from them. A feminine touch was added to the metallic nest by the magpie when she lined it with grass and wool, the latter pulled from a kitchen rug.

Brazil changed from a monarchy to a republic in 1889.

Want New Words For Tastes, Odors

CHICAGO. (AP)—The food and perfume industries are trying to find new words describing tastes and odors.

The American Chemical society bemoans the limitation to such terms as "sweet," "sour," "musty," "fresh," "acidic," "bitter," etc., in defining odors and flavors, and points out that of the five human senses only taste and smell have defied scientific classification.

"Probably the reason for this chaotic situation is the vital role of personal idiosyncrasy in human noses and palates," the society states. "Physiologists say that these two are actually a single sense."

GIRL, 23, IS SEA CAPTAIN

PORT ALBERNI, B. C. (American Wire)—Another field has been invaded by women, as Capt. Dorothy Blackmore becomes the first master of mariner in Canada.

Previous women sea captains have been turned down for their certificates, since the former law granted the precious certificate only to men.
